

U.S. Prisoners in China—One Free, One Dead

HUGH FRANCIS REDMOND

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China released Roman Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh today after nearly 12 years in Communist captivity. But the Chinese announced that another American prisoner, Hugh Francis Redmond of Yonkers, N. Y., committed suicide three months ago.

Border sources said the 79-year-old prelate from Cumberland, Md., "walked across the border bridge unaided and appeared in fair condition considering his age and the ordeal he has undergone."

Bishop Walsh gave "a tired smile" as he approached the British border post and observed to the border police that he had "been in China a long, long time—I am very tired and I'm glad I am out."

A church spokesman said the local bishop, Francis Hsu, had cabled the Vatican asking for instructions about medical treatment and possible return to the United States for Bishop Walsh.

A U.S. Consulate spokesman said Bishop Walsh was being given a medical examination and "we will not know his real condition until after that."

The spokesman said he doubted that the bishop would be made available to talk to reporters or be photographed "for some time."

He reportedly has been in a prison hospital in Shanghai most of the last eight years.

The bishop was arrested in October 1958. He was convicted in 1960 of espionage and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

Hsinhua, Peking's official news agency, said he had been freed before completion of his sentence because of his "old age and ill health" and that he had left for Hong Kong.

Redmond, 50, was a businessman in China who chose to remain there when the Communists took over in 1949. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1954 on charges of maintaining contact with U.S. intelligence agents in Hong Kong.

Hsinhua said Redmond killed himself three months ago, on the night of April 13.

"Taking advantage of unpreparedness by the warders," said Peking's report, the American "used a U.S.-made razor blade to cut the artery of the medial aspect of his left elbow and the arteries of his wrists and mortally wounded himself."

Despite emergency hospital treatment, Redmond died the same evening from loss of blood, Peking said.

After examination by medical examiners, the body was cremated and "the Red Cross Society of China has already informed the culprit Redmond's relatives of his death through the American Red Cross," Hsinhua said.

Legislative Controversy Over Boices

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON The reconstruction of Boices Lane and Neighborhood Road and the appointment of Joseph F. Marr of Woodstock to a nine year term on the Ulster County Community College Board of Trustees evoked considerable controversy at Thursday night's meeting of the County Legislature. However, both measures received final approval with Marr's appointment made unanimous.

Many things entered into the lengthy discussion of the resolution calling for a $440,000 bond issue for the road construction—the role of IBM as a community benefactor and the question of where the responsibility for the road rests, with the county or the Town of Ulster in which it is located. Also, the contention of some legislators that they were not aware that when the county accepted the road on March 12 that such a large expenditure was to result.

The resolution for the bond issue was submitted by Legislator Lawrence Craft (R-Dist. 10) and seconded by Minority Leader Roger Mabie (D-Dist. 7).

A move to table it for 60 days came from William West (R-Dist. 12) who felt that IBM, "in the interest of public spirit and its image," might be agreeable to sitting down and discussing the possibility of sharing the cost of the road with the county since its employees are principal users of the road.

Find water first, then build. These were the expressions on completion of Phase Two at Ulster County Community College during afternoon meeting of Legislature Thursday... Story Page 2.

West said that the $440,000 expenditure is more than the county uses in a year for capital improvements of that nature.

Mabie lauded IBM for having benefitted the county "More than any single entity in this county's history." A member of the bridge and highway committee which recommended the bond issue, Mabie said the matter has been discussed for many months and that when the county took the road over, "we did it with our eyes wide open. The road in its present condition is a traffic hazard, he said.

John Sangaline, (R-City) said that it was not the responsibility of the county but rather with the Town of Ulster.

George Barthel (D-Dist. 10) questioned the estimated cost which he said had risen from the $300,000 range to $440,000 asking "Where did the extra $100,000 come from?" Craft, chairman of the bridge and highway committee said he believed the final amount would be less than appropriated.

Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) explained that the cost of traffic control must be included in the total figure even though IBM has agreed to pay for it.

The West motion was defeated 27-5 with one legislator, Clifford Snyder (R-Dist. 1) absent.

The vote on the bond issue resulted in 26 ayes, five no votes and one abstention from Charles Scala (R-Dist. 1), who is an IBM employee.

The question of Marr's appointment as a college trustee dealt more with the manner of appointment than the qualifications of the candidate (Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

Struggle to Reach General's Craft

SAIGON (UPI) —U.S. planes and infantrymen, hampered by torrential monsoon rains, struggled today to reach the wreckage of the downed helicopter of Maj. Gen. George W. Casey on a hillside near the Cambodian border.

Military sources said Casey was presumed dead, the sixth American general killed in Vietnam. The U.S. Command in Saigon refused to give more than the most general details of the rescue operations because of the possibility Casey and six others aboard might have survived the crash Tuesday morning.

Aircraft observers who spotted the wreckage in rainy twilight Thursday, on the jungle hillside saw no bodies near it, but it was considered possible the men had escaped into the woods.

Casey, 48, of North Scituate, Mass., a West Point graduate, commanded the 1st Air Cavalry Division, one of the U.S. Army's finest units. Its helicopter infantrymen were used extensively in Cambodia.

The general was a qualified pilot and it is believed he was at the controls when the crash occurred. One other pilot was aboard.

Casey was believed headed for a military hospital in Tay

Ninh City, 55 miles northwest of Saigon, in the turbine-powered UH1 Huey.

Battle reports said four GIs died Thursday when Communist infantrymen ambushed their unit with a mine and small arms fire 100 miles east of Saigon. The Americans called in mortar fire and air support, but guerrilla casualties were not determined.

South Vietnamese 7th Infantry Division troops reported finding the bodies of 23 Communist soldiers killed earlier by air strikes 45 miles south-southwest of Saigon.

Rocket grenade attacks on a small hamlet 55 miles north-west of the capital killed three civilians, the South Vietnamese military reported.

Six U.S. Marines were wounded in a fight that took six Viet Cong lives Thursday. The Marines were hit with rocket grenades and small arms fire five miles southwest of Da Nang while on a joint operation with South Vietnamese troops.

Cooper-Church Amendment—Looks Like Long Fight Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dozen members of Congress, split nearly down the middle, now hold the key to the fate of the Cooper-Church amendment to restrict U.S. actions in Cambodia.

The House left the controversial measure to the fate of a Senate-House conference committee when it refused Thursday to order conferees to support the amendment to the foreign military sales bill.

The Senate passed the amendment, named for Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, two weeks ago after almost two months of debate.

House supporters of Cooper-Church reached a high-water mark in votes for antiwar proposals in their chamber, but nevertheless lost in a key 237-153 vote during a session marked by parliamentary confusion and Democratic charges that the White House twisted arms of doubtful members.

Indications point to a tough fight in conference, with all five House members against curbing presidential power in Cambodia, but the Senate representatives overwhelmingly for the amendment.

The Senate members line up 6 to 1 in favor of Cooper-Church and most also have little use for the military sales bill which both the Nixon administration and House conferees want extended. "My impression is that the Senate is going to hang tough," said Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., who described the Thursday scene as "a typical ramrod operation of the House."

Pennsylvania Democrat Thomas E. Morgan, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who will lead the House contingent, suggested to reporters a long conference was on the horizon. "I would say 30 days ought to do it," Morgan added.

In Thursday's vote all five of the House conferees joined in killing a motion by Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., R-Mich., which would have instructed them in advance to accept Cooper-Church.

Conference rules specify a majority of the conferees from both branches must agree on

W. Averell Harriman, former U.S. ambassador to the Paris peace talks, said he is "in full accord with the conception that action taken. They can modify, accept or eliminate Cooper-Church and other points of difference in the bill but whatever action is taken then is subject to final approval by both the full House and Senate.

As drafted by the Senate, the Cooper-Church amendment provides no funds can be used for U.S. troops and advisers or for mercenaries from other nations in Cambodia.

There should be a fixed withdrawal," he said negotiations would be aided by such a step because "the North Vietnamese do not believe we have any intention of getting out of South Vietnam."

The conference was not limited to the withdrawal timetable and gave evidence of what has become a standard hard-line separation between Senate doves and the Nixon administration.

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said the "main roadblock to negotiation is the dance of death in which we are locked with the Thieu-Ky regime, a military dictatorship whose stock in trade is the harsh repression of the freedoms we Americans prize and the brutal treatment of non-Communist political opponents of their unrepresentative regime."

President Nixon seems bothered by the question of humiliation, said Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., "yet it seems to me it is much more humiliating to be regarded by the rest of the world as an immature and unwise community... insensitive to humane considerations, than it is to admit that we are not omnipotent."

Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, said "if we are determined to get out, which I am not at all convinced of as yet," negotiations should be held "on three simple agreements: One would be no reprisals, a second would be no interference with our withdrawal, a third would be a cease-fire."

When Morgan brought it up, one hour of debate could be provided. But, after standing by the microphone for a moment, Morgan said he had no requests for time to talk, then moved to close debate. Fraser, standing nearby, forced a procedural roll call but lost.

Study Governance at UCCC

STONE RIDGE

A 15-member committee composed of students, faculty, administrators and a trustee are meeting this summer at Ulster County Community College to study all aspects of existing college governance.

The goal of the Committee to Study College Governance is to develop a plan for an organization which will be representative of the entire college community. These recommendations will be voted on by the entire college community, with each representative constituency ratifying separately.

The committee is an outgrowth of consensus by three groups at the college—students, faculty and administration—that work should be undertaken to develop recommendations for a new college governance structure.

In addition to meetings of the full committee, there also have been numerous sessions of various subcommittees which have been formed.

Stephen R. Moncure, a student who resides in Bearsville, was elected committee chairman.

The other members of the committee include: Mrs. Lloyd LeFever, Kingston, a Board of Trustees member; President George B. Erbsen, Stone Ridge; Charles Schenck, Kingston, director of admissions; Mrs. Jean Robertaccio, Stone Ridge, coordinator of financial aids; Donald Katt, Kingston, director of student activities;

Louis Cescaratto, Stone Ridge, assistant professor of psychology; Richard J. Gelston, Stone Ridge, instructor of business; James R. Hadley, Stone Ridge, associate professor of engineering technologies; Mrs. Rhoda R. Mones, Kingston, associate professor of speech; Fernando Valdivia, Bearsville, assistant professor of English; and four students, William P. Warner, 1 Becket Street, Kingston; Christopher M. Detweiler, Route 3, Saugerties; Donald Abrams, 11 Wurts Avenue, New Paltz; and Anthony R. Falotico, Highland Avenue, Catskill.

Mrs. Irma Gray, New Paltz, the assistant to the president for institutional research and federal legislation, is the committee recorder.

Views on College Phase 2: Find Water, Then Build

KINGSTON Two county residents addressing the County Legislature at its 4 p.m. development Thursday asked that completion of Phase Two and development of Phase Three, of Ulster County Community College's building program be halted immediately until sufficient water can be found to accommodate the expansion.

Michael Antonelli, speaking for WHITA ("We've Had It Taxpayer's Association") and Harry M. Thayer, WGHQ executive, who spoke as an individual and taxpayer, both said they were opposed to having the college go ahead with new building plans until it is "proven" that there is additional water on the Stone Ridge campus.

At present, the one and only well operating on the property yields between 25 and 30 gallons of water a minute, which is considered insufficient for the September opening of the college. Thayer questioned why additional and adjacent acreage was recently purchased for expansion of the college, in view of the water shortage. He also said that a suggestion that water be piped from Ashokan Reservoir, to the site at a cost of $60,000 was "absurd."

Thayer also said that if the cost of solving the water problem is "outrageous, maybe we will have to have a split campus."

Antonelli said he felt the college planners should have been cognizant of the sparse water supply at the site before selecting is as the location for the campus.

The search for additional water began several months ago in anticipation of needing a bigger supply before the early September opening for the gym and showers.

Two holes were dug in search of water but both proved fruitless. Dug again to a greater depth of up to 350 feet, the geology findings didn't stand up to expectations. Electronic devices for locating water and other methods were explored, all to no avail.

Special Council Session To Shed Light on Issue

KINGSTON Kingston Common Council will go into special session Monday night at 8 o'clock to "correct" traffic legislation passed Tuesday regarding the new Jack in the Box Restaurant on Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue.

On Tuesday Council approved legislation calling for the moving of the traffic light at that corner (to be paid for by the restaurant owners) five to eight feet in the uptown direction on Broadway.

An on-site inspection resulted in the decision that the legislation had been ill-advised and that a traffic hazard would result if it were enacted.

Youngster Hurt In City Accident

KINGSTON A youngster was reportedly injured in a two-car accident on Washington Avenue and Sawkill Road, Kingston, late Thursday afternoon.

According to a report of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, Jamie Hill, grandson of Clinton Finch, 53 of Fleischmanns, one of the drivers, complained of pain and was taken to a private physician.

Gail B. Stapleton, 19 of Kingston, RD 2 was the driver of the other car.

The report states that the Stapleton car was proceeding west off Sawkill Road making a left turn on Washington Avenue. The Finch car reportedly was proceeding North on Washington Avenue when the two collided. The report states further that the Stapleton woman claimed Finch had his directional light on for a right turn when the accident took place.

Now the committee will propose that the light be moved 17 feet in the downtown direction on Broadway and that left turns onto Broadway from the restaurant be prohibited. In addition, Mayor Francis R. Koenig has insisted that guard rails be put around the parking lot of the restaurant to protect pedestrians.

Mayor Koenig will veto Tuesday night's resolution. "This will be a brand new resolution we'll be voting on Monday night," Mancuso said.

Addonizio—Not a Red Cent In Kickbacks

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)—Former Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio, testifying at his conspiracy-extortion trial, said he didn't take "one red cent" as a kickback on a city contract from the government's key witness.

The first witness for the defense Thursday in a case involving four other defendants, Addonizio said government witness Paul W. Rigo, a contractor, gave "absolutely false" testimony when he swore he gave the former congressman $47,000 in installments at city hall in 1965.

"He never gave me five cents, not one red cent, not then or any other time," Addonizio testified. But, under cross examination by U.S. Attorney Frederick B. Lacey, he admitted Rigo gave him $14,000 in 1968 for home repairs even though he had $40,000 in the bank. The ex-mayor and other defendants are charged with extorting $253,000 from Constrad Inc., Rigo's firm.

Under questioning of defense attorney Bernard Hellring, Addonizio denied Rigo's contention he ran for mayor in 1962 after 14 years in Congress because "you can make a million bucks as mayor of Newark."

"I never made that statement to Rigo or anyone else," Addonizio said. He said he left Congress because he wanted to be close to his family and that he had a "secret" desire to become governor of New Jersey. He said being mayor of Newark would be a good base from which to run for governor.

Frisbee Champs

The Kingston Recreation Department held its first Frisbee championships at Forsyth Park Thursday afternoon. Winners included (L) Randy Perry, Ed Cercone, Helene Kahrs and Regina Heybruck. Ron Gabriele, summer activities director for the recreation department was on hand to congratulate the winners. The Frisbee is a saucer-shaped plastic object that is thrown from one contestant to the other. The Frisbee floats through the air and can dip and rise suddenly. It is a game of skill rather than strength which perhaps explains why two of the winners were girls. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Conviction and Acquittal

McCormack Aide Faces Five-Year Term

BEFORE THE VERDICT—Dr. Martin Sweig (C), (L) returns to Federal Court in New York on Thursday before conviction. With him is attorney Paul Smith (R) (UPI TELEPHOTO)

NEW YORK (UPI) —Dr. Martin Sweig, suspended chief administrative aide to House Speaker John W. McCormack, was convicted Thursday on a single count of perjury.

The jury, however, acquitted Sweig of five other perjury counts and of a charge of conspiring to misuse the speaker's office for his personal gain.

He faces a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine. Had he been convicted on all counts he could have been imprisoned for 35 years and fined $26,000.

Sweig remained free on $50,000 bond sentencing set for Aug. 31. His lawyers said he would appeal.

"Thank God it's over," Sweig said to reporters who clustered around him after the jury announced its verdict. He refused further comment on the three-week-long trial in federal court here.

Sweig, 48, was indicted in October with veteran Washington lobbyist Nathan Voloshen, 72, on charges of conspiring to defraud the government by using the prestige of the speaker's office to gain favors for Voloshen's clients for fees which allegedly amounted to $169,000 over a five-year period.

On the first day of the trial Voloshen unexpectedly pleaded guilty, leaving Sweig to stand trial alone.

The federal jury took more than 17 hours over two days to reach a verdict in the trial highlighted by the appearance on the witness stand of McCormack, who has announced his retirement from politics at the end of the year.

McCormack, 78, a veteran of 45 years in Congress, told the court he had prohibited the alleged practice by Sweig and Voloshen of using his office, his telephone and his name in their operations.

The prosecution, directed by U. S. Attorney Whitney North Seymour, stressed that McCormack was not implicated in the case.

The specific perjury count for which Sweig was convicted involved Gary Roth, a draft-age youth whose father-in-law allegedly asked Voloshen to use his influence to keep him out of the Army.

According to court testimony Sweig, using McCormack's name, telephoned contacts but was unable to keep the young man from being drafted.

Government witnesses testified that Sweig persevered with the result that Roth eventually discharged from the Army as a hardship case.

Goodell—Lambasting and a Big Switch

By United Press International

A North Country Republican county organization blasted Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N. Y., Thursday for not supporting President Nixon and officially endorsed his Conservative opponent, James L. Buckley.

At the same time, Goodell, in Washington, came to the defense of Nixon against Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, whom he accused of taking a "blindly partisan approach" to the President's economic policies.

Goodell said O'Brien sought "to load on a President who has been in office for one and one-half years the accumulated economic ills of the past seven years."

At Saranac Lake, the Franklin County GOP committee unanimously opposed to endorsing Buckley over Goodell.

Hayward H. (Red) Plumbadore, county chairman, accused the Jamestown Republican of being disloyal to the Republican party in embarrassing the Nixon administration.

"He has acted in what we consider an un-American attitude to our best interests in the U.S. as well as abroad," Plumbadore said.

"Our position is that we don't criticize him for not being a good Republican — it goes far beyond that," the former assemblyman said. "We don't think he's a good American."

Plumbadore said the committee decided to back Buckley because to sit idle would aid the candidacy of Rep. Richard L. Ottinger of Pleasantville, the Democratic Senate candidate.

On July 1, the Dutchess County GOP committee voted 55-21 to withhold support from Goodell. The Poughkeepsie-area Republican committeemen, however, made no decision on whether to sit out the election or back Buckley.

A spokesman for Goodell said "the senator will be disappointed" in the Franklin County action.

State Republican Chairman

Charles T. Lanigan was said to be aware of the situation, but has "no comment now."

Governor Rockefeller, who pushed Goodell's nomination, was vacationing in Maine.

In New York, Buckley announced that F. Clifford White, a veteran Republican campaign strategist, would be his campaign chairman.

White, a native New Yorker and former Tompkins County Republican chairman, played key roles in the GOP campaigns for Nixon-Lodge in 1960 and White said.

Michigan Girl Is Kidnaped

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) —An anonymous $5,000 reward with no strings attached has been offered for the safe return of Laurie Murningham, 16.

The blonde daughter of Lansing's former mayor was kidnaped by a robber from the antique store where she was a clerk.

A massive police search found no trace of Miss Murningham, whose father is former Lansing Mayor Max E. Murningham, or of her abductor, described as a Negro male about 25 years old wearing dark trousers and a straw hat.

Miss Murningham was forced to accompany a gunman who held up Gallagher's Gift Shop for $60 after she told him she didn't have change for a $20 bill, police said.

Late Thursday, local broadcasters played a tape recording by Ernie Boone, a prominent local black resident, who promised the reward money for her safe return. Boone gave his telephone number and promised communication by code number if someone offered information.

"I will deliver the money," Boone said. "Please call me at my home."

According to police, the man entered the shop on this state capital city's West Side about 2 p.m. and picked out several items. When Miss Murningham said she could not cash his $20 bill, he pulled a gun and ordered her and store owner vicinity at the time.

Mrs. Christine E. Gallagher to Roadblocks failed to catch the abductor.

Police said he then apparently changed his mind and hit Mrs. Gallagher with a pistol and shoved her into another room.

Then he scooped about $60 out of the cash drawer and hit Mrs. Gallagher with a pistol and shoved her into another room.

That Once in Decade Nose Count—Complaints Pour in Across U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Although its massive once-in-a-decade nose count is not yet completed, the Census Bureau already is beset with complaints from around the country about the accuracy of its early findings.

"The figures we have put out are preliminary, really preliminary," a bureau spokesman emphasized, explaining that census officials still are sorting out complaints and making corrections where errors are found.

Whether the complaints are valid or an expression of outraged boosterism, they tend to have one thing in common—they come from areas that have lost population or have registered fewer gains than expected.

The bureau's early figures—it claims to have counted about 162 million Americans or 80 percent of the expected 210 million total—have led to a variety of critical responses.

They were denounced in Congress. Newspapers and radio stations conducted their own campaigns to discover who went uncounted April 1. Mayors and Chamber of Commerce officials demanded recounts and one group filed a suit to stop the count.

Census Bureau officials are not surprised by the complaints. One said privately, "We figure the mayor whose city has lost population is not doing his civic or public duty as a mayor" unless he complains about the results.

The reason is that a great deal more than population hinges on the population count. It not only determines how many congressional seats each state is entitled and whether election district boundaries need to be changed, but federal aid dollars under many government programs are also distributed on a per capita basis.

A strong distrust of the bureau's "mail-back" system of counting people was found in a United Press International survey of state and local officials after Rep. Bill D. Burlison, D-Mo., called for a "missed persons" campaign.

"We still have a number of people, who cannot read or write," said Larry Stover, Beckley, W.Va., recorder-treasurer. "I would imagine their forms ended up in trash cans."

Sound Festival Topic For Saugerties Board

By NANCY SULLIVAN

SAUGERTIES

A resolution concerning future sound festivals was approved by the Saugerties Town Board at Thursday night's meeting.

Town Attorney Richard Overbagh presented a resolution stating that "any and all prior applications made for a permit of an assembly of more than 200 persons pursuant to Local Law No. 5 of the Town of Saugerties is hereby denied and he further resolved that in the event the Sound Festival desires to file a new application for concerts to be held on the weekend of July 24, 25, 26 that the time limit of said Local Law No. 5 be waived to the extent that the Town Board will consider such application if made prior to those dates."

The time limit mentioned in the resolution refers to the 30-day period in which an application must be filed to hold the festival. The board, it was announced, will accept an application from Woodstock Sound Festival Inc. even though it will be impossible for them to meet the 30-day deadline for concerts scheduled for July 24, 25 and 26. This does not mean, however, that the application will be accepted by the board, according to Town Clerk Marion Newkirk.

A letter was received by the town board signed by five residents of the Town of Saugerties who recently met concerning the problem of the town festival. The committee of five presented its concerns to the town board. They said their concern was not aimed at young people. They also said if the town had zoning and anti-noise ordinances the town would be further equipped to handle such things. A zoning ordinance would save the town of Saugerties from the promoters of the July 3 weekend festival. The citizens claimed that camping grounds were inadequate which caused many problems. They did state that the police did a good job

Two residents of Mt. Marion Park expressed their concern over the recreation area for children there. There is a piece of property which had been deeded to the town in that area and although the deed cannot be found the town attorney said that the land has been on the tax rolls for a number of years and is owned by the town. Members of the beautification program will clean up the property and install a basketball hoop until more money can be appropriated.

The Saugerties Council of Campfire Girls Inc. presented a resolution to the town requesting a piece of property in the Veterans area amounting to 10 acres be deeded over to them as a recreational facility for the girls and other residents of the community to be known as the Saugerties Campfire Girls Park. The board accepted this resolution and the land will go to them, pending investigation of right of way.

The meeting was adjourned in memory of Ernest Schirmer who was a former police justice for the Town of Saugerties for many years. Mr. Schirmer died this week.

It was claimed by some that politics rather than the man was the issue with many Democrats accusing the Republicans of making a political appointment. "I don't think the majority party has a headlock on talent," Mable commented.

Countering, Melvin Mones (R-City) accused the Democrats of doing a disservice to Marr. "The best man was picked for the job, it was not a haphazard appointment," he said.

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City), called it "a moral issue. Is it not too much for us to get a run-down on this man?" he asked. "My reason is not political, but because I lack a great deal of information."

West, who submitted the resolution, vouched for Marr's qualifications.

Mable moved for a unanimous vote "because the nominee needs the entire support of the board." Barthel seconded the motion.

The balance of the 13 resolutions to come before the board all received approval. One called for the entering into contracts for development of Phase II of Ulster County Community College. Another authorized Savago to enter into a service contract for a two-way radio system with Nelson's Communication Corporation and a third gave permission to execute agreements for a gauging station on Esopus Creek.

Another and important measure petitions the State Legislature to pass legislation to grant greater authority to local health officers under the Public Health Law of New York State.

Five legislators sponsored a resolution proclaiming "Volunteer Firemen Week" beginning July 19. They were Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2), Paul Brazier (D-Dist. 1), Richard Thornton (D-Dist. 1), Scala and Snyder.

Obituary Correction

Mrs. Dorothy Levy, wife of the late Sidney Black, of Kingston, not Mrs. Dorothy Kreppel, is among survivors of Robert Brian Black who died this week in Poughkeepsie as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident two weeks ago. The deceased is formerly of Stony Run, Kingston. In providing information for an obituary, the wrong names was inadvertently given by the funeral director.

DISCUSS FUTURE PLANS — Officers of American Legion Post 150, Kingston, met at the Post Home on West O'Reilly Street Wednesday night to discuss plans for future Post activities. Participants included, seated (L) Vice Commander Michael M. Lano, Commander Orrin DeGraff and Bar Steward Donald Misner and standing (L) Trustee Robert Delaney and Service Officer Fred Bayona. Fire Damages Kitchen Ceiling At the Granit Accord and Kerhonskon firemen responded to an alarm at the Granit Hotel at 7:55 this morning and quickly extinguished a fire in the ceiling of one of the kitchens.

Accord Chief Edward Kelder said that 40 firemen responded to the call. "It could have been a lot worse," he said, "but we got there in time." Recall was at 9:30 a.m.

Bell Invited to State Dept. Briefing

ALBANY
Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock) is one of 200 young political leaders across the nation who has been invited to a special State Department briefing on foreign policy in Washington July 13-14.

Assemblyman Bell was invited to the special foreign policy conference by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Ranking officers of the State

Department will take part in the program, speaking about current issues in U. S. foreign policy and responding to questions from those attending the conference.

"We look forward to this opportunity to exchange views with young elected political leaders from throughout the country," said Secretary Rogers in his letter of invitation to Assemblyman Bell.

Scheduled in addition to State

Department officers are executives of the Agency for International Development and the Department of Defense.

The conference will include discussion on: The foreign policy-making process; an overview of the Asian and Cambodian situations; the evolving Middle East situation; Europe in the 1970s; economic aspects of foreign policy and the Communist threat.

The State Department chief is currently in Tokyo attending conferences on Southeast Asia.

Prior to his arrival in the Japanese city, Rogers had similar consultations in Manila and Saigon.

At all of the conferences Rogers has been told that the United States must not reduce its military, political and economic commitments in any serious way in the Pacific area. These expressions have come from representatives of South Vietnam, Cambodia, South Korea, Thailand and Philippines.

That view, shared by Australia and New Zealand, appears to be basically in conflict with President Nixon's doctrine for Asia. The Nixon Doctrine calls for a gradual decline in the American presence as the Asian countries develop the ability to defend themselves. Rogers leaves for London today.

SECRETARY OF STATE ROGERS

Have Faith in America

The millions who on July 4 heard the Rev. Dr. Billy Graham's fervent reaffirmation of faith in America learned once more that this country was founded by God-fearing men and women whose love of God and country fashioned the way of life that has made this nation great and the most prosperous on earth. Excerpts from Graham's address are worth safekeeping for the guidance of those in this generation who want to safeguard that way of life:

"We are not only here today to honor America, but we have come as citizens to renew our dedication and allegiance to the principles and institutions that made her great.

"Lately, our institutions have been under attack: the Supreme Court, the Congress, the presidency, the flag, the home, the educational system and even the church. But we are here to say with loud voices that in spite of our faults and failures we believe in these institutions.

"Let the world know that the vast majority of us still proudly sing: 'My Country 'tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty.' America needs to sing again! America needs to celebrate again! American needs to wave the flag again! This flag belongs to all Americans—black and white, rich and poor, liberal and conservative, Republican and Democrat!

"There is too much discouragement, despair and negativism in the nation today. On every hand, critics tell us what is wrong with America, where we have failed, and why we are hated.

"We have listened and watched while a relatively small extremist element have knocked our courts, desecrated our flag, disrupted our educational system, laughed at our religious heritage, and threatened to burn down our cities—and are even now threatening to assassinate our leaders.

"As a Christian, or as a Jew, or as an atheist, we have a responsibility to an America that always stood for liberty, protection and opportunity. We will listen respectfully to those who dissent in accordance with the constitutional principles, but we strongly reject violence and the erosion of any of our liberties under guise of a dissent that promises everything and delivers only chaos.

"Pursue the vision, reach toward the goal, fulfill the dream—and as you move to do it, never give in! Never! Never! Never!"

There was much more, but this is a good sample. The evangelist was as fervent in his sermon on patriotism, as he could have been on religion. In fact, he made patriotism an exercise in religion, for patriotism is a form of religion. As the Apostle Paul said, "dedication to God and country, that is patriotism of the highest form." It has upheld this nation for 194 years. Pray God, it will uphold this nation for hundreds of more years to come.

Earl D. Craig Jr., 31, the Negro who lost out to former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the Democrat-Farmer-Labor endorsement for the Senate from Minnesota, may run in the party's primary for the nomination or file as an independent. In the latter event, he would be creating a three-man race that could split the DFL party in favor of the Republican candidate, Rep. Clark McGregory.

David Lawrence Says Nixon Has Tough Decision In Next Congressional Race

WASHINGTON — President Nixon will have a hard time telling the country just how to vote in the next congressional campaign. There are many Republicans who have defected from the party on some major issues, and there are Democrats from the south who have supported the administration.

Meanwhile, Mr. Nixon is confronted with what he feels is fiscal irresponsibility on the part of a Congress controlled by a Democratic majority. Only one of the major appropriation bills for fiscal year 1971, which began on July 1, has been before him for signature. The other 13 regular appropriation bills are either pending in committee, awaiting hearings or have been acted on by one house but not by the other. The prospects are that some of these measures will not be up for passage or defeat for several weeks or perhaps even months.

The President, of course, can characterize Congress as uncooperative in his efforts to fight inflation, and he can urge the people to give him a Congress that will back him up. But he hardly can call for a Republican Congress without appearing to be ignoring the support of many Democrats who are on his side and at the same time to be asking the people to re-elect Republicans who have been opposing his programs.

The simplest way for the President to handle the campaign would be to disregard party labels and ask the American people to provide him with a majority in Congress which would vote for important measures that he will enumerate during the campaign. In every Congressional District the voters are usually familiar with the records of the congressmen who have not been on the President's side in the House and in the Senate. So Mr. Nixon's appeal to the people would be for them to elect those candidates irrespective of party who are pledged to support him.

It may be that, under such circumstances, some of the dissenting Republicans will have a change of heart and will promise to back the President's programs. Certainly if the President could get a Republican majority in both Houses, he would have a substantial group, because there are many Democrats who also can be counted on to vote with the administration.

Control of Congress by a Republican majority favoring the President is of major importance because chairmen of the committees would be named from the President's party. If the Republican party gains control, Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, Democrat, for instance, would no longer be chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and other committees would be headed up by members who are presumably friendly to administration programs.

It is becoming evident that, in many districts, Independents may be running for office who are far more likely to be administration supporters than are either certain Republicans or Democrats. These new entries into the contests may gather votes at the polls from both parties. The President need not express individual preferences, but his supporters can indicate which of the nominees would be most inclined to get behind Mr. Nixon.

So the next congressional race is bound to be based upon the campaign that President Nixon makes to gain the aid of a majority in both Houses of Congress for the legislation that he will be proposing in the ensuing two years of his term. He will undoubtedly make clear that the first two years of his administration have resulted in many delays, due to political obstructiveness. Indeed, the enemy in Vietnam has been encouraged to prolong the war, thus increasing American casualties.

The economic condition of the country is in a serious state. The President will not hesitate to point out that the opposition majority in Congress has been responsible in large part for the failure to pass the legislation necessary to maintain fiscal soundness. This has been deemed desirable to curb inflation and restore the stability of business under which the collection of big sums of revenue from taxpayers to carry on social-welfare programs would be feasible.

The President has not announced his plans and probably will not do so until early autumn. He is confronted, however, with the necessity of launching a campaign for majority support not merely from his own party, but from members of the opposition party who will pledge themselves to vote for his programs and thus end the disturbing tactics that have helped to unsettle economic conditions in America.

Jack Anderson Says Four Billion Dollar Electronic Bugging System Is Revealed

WASHINGTON—The super-secret story can now be told how the U.S. has seeded the Indochina jungles with millions of electronic listening devices, costing about $2,500 to $3,000 apiece.

Most of these sensitive, air-dropped sensors landed with such a jar that they never worked at all. Others picked up jungle noises of interest to no one except nature lovers. A few detected the movement of people, presumably enemy soldiers, down the infiltration routes into South Vietnam.

Even the hardest of the detection devices seldom continued to transmit their mysterious sounds for more than six or seven days.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has now ripped the secrecy label off the story in a Senate speech. He charged that $2 billion had been spent on an electronic detection system, which can't tell the difference between enemy soldiers and innocent civilians.

But he barely scratched the surface of the scandal. He called upon Secretary of Defense Mel Laird for the details, which remained deeply hidden. It so happens, however, that this column already spent weeks digging into the story. We can now publish some of the facts that Laird may be reluctant to furnish.

Hidden Funds

In the first place, the taxpayers' investment in this great electronic boondoggle is close to $4 billion, not $2 billion. The funds have been hidden under innocuous titles in the budgets of the three armed services. Some of the Navy's expenditures for sonar equipment, for example, really went to buy jungle listening devices.

The devices were mounted inside 30-inch flare cases and launched by EC-121 planes through their regular flare tubes. Most were equipped with parachutes, which were supposed to drop the delicate devices gently into the trees. Thus the very trees developed ears to listen for approaching infiltrators.

Most of the ears, of course, turned out to be quite deaf. Others failed to pick up the soft, Indian-like footsteps of the guerrillas. To make their approach more audible, the brass hats hit upon the idea of seeding the jungle with explosive devices. The theory was that the guerrilla would step upon the devices, which would crackle and pop loud enough to be overheard by the overhanging electronic ears.

Explosive Buttons

Accordingly, an estimated $700 million worth of gray-green button-size explosives were scattered around the jungle. Unhappily, the infiltrators quickly discovered what caused the popping noise under their feet. Thereafter, they simply avoided the gray-green buttons or sent a diversionary unit to set them off purposely along the wrong route.

Meanwhile, it occurred to someone in the Pentagon that, if they were going to all the trouble of sprinkling the jungle with explosives to detect infiltrators, the charges may as well be powerful enough to kill the intruding enemy soldiers.

Thus a new batch of explosives, disguised to look like animal droppings, have been scattered along the infiltration trails. The only difficulty is that innocent civilians and our own observers also operate in the same areas that have now been seeded with lethal animal dung.

Indeed, Green Berets have been sent into these areas to plant special listening devices and to make visual observations. Presumably, they will be warned not to step on innocent-looking animal droppings. But it also shouldn't take the enemy long to learn that the droppings may be booby traps.

Sophisticated Devices

The manufacture of the secret detection devices began in 1966. These have been refined as the program has progressed through three phases. Seismic devices, equipped with heavy nose cones so they will stick in the ground, are designed to pick up footsteps. Some are so sophisticated that they can identify vehicles that move down the jungle roads.

Others are equipped with magnetic energy that can detect what weapons the infiltrators may be bringing with them. Still others use heat energy to detect approaching people.

The signals from the seeded devices are monitored by planes and helicopters, which hover overhead. Sometimes they remain in the air almost constantly to listen for enemy movements, but usually they monitor the signals for short periods.

The most agonizing problem is that the expensive devices usually don't work. Those that do put out a signal must be replaced within a week.

All the money that has been wasted on this program may never be uncovered. For example, 20 experimental units were shipped to Vietnam recently in two lots. After the first lot was air-dropped into the jungle, not a single unit operated more than two or three hours.

The Pentagon radioed Saigon to hold up the second air drop until technicians inspected the experimental devices. Two technicians from the Naval Air Development Center in Johnsville, Pa., were rushed to Vietnam. Before they arrived, however, the second lot was dumped into the jungle with the same adverse results.

The whole program has been plagued with such foul-ups, and a full congressional investigation should be ordered.

GOP Leaders Worried About Complacency of Party Voters

By HOWARD CLARK

Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Republican leaders, from State Chairman Charles Lanigan on down, say they are worried about complacency among Republican voters this fall.

They say they are afraid that the voters, figuring that Gov. Rockefeller will defeat Arthur J. Goldberg as handily as previous Democratic gubernatorial rivals, will stay away from the polls.

While the comments are familiar—the GOP has said roughly the same thing in the last two statewide campaigns—it is interesting to note the emphasis the topic is given this early in the political campaign.

There are some who say that the party leaders mean it this time. Others see it as a vehicle to hold voter interest through the listless summer months prior to Labor Day, when political activity traditionally picks up steam.

The comments do fit into the Republican campaign plans, which also emphasize these other elements:

Rockefeller's role as an underdog. Rockefeller has been saying this for some time and last week, he let it be known to newspaper editors in Saratoga Springs that a recent popularity poll ranked him 11 percentage points behind Goldberg.

The numerical advantage of the Democrats in voter registration. The governor and other statewide candidates have said this over and over in recent weeks. It was Rockefeller's first reaction after the primary election among the Democratic candidates.

The imbalance in the Democratic statewide ticket, in which all the candidates live and work in the New York City metropolitan area. Implicit in this argument is the fact that party workers in upstate New York—where Rockefeller's plurality has steadily declined—will have to work that much harder to overcome the expected Democratic appeal to New York City voters.

The need for a political ticket to attract voters of all political persuasions—liberal, conservative or middle of the road. This reflects the concern that James L. Buckley, the Conservative party candidate for U.S. Senator, might make inroads among conservative Republicans who dislike the maverick stance of the GOP incumbent, Charles E. Goodell.

Lanigan brought up the complacency issue Tuesday to members of the Republican State Committee. Later he told newsmen: "There is this complacency problem. It's imperative that we get the voters to the polls."

Lanigan's concern also is being expressed on the local level. Last week, for example, Glens Falls GOP Chairman Thomas Marzola looked worried when he watched the turnout for Gov. Rockefeller at a Glens Falls hotel.

"There should be two or three times more people here," he told a reporter. "They should be crowding the sidewalks trying to get in. But look. People just don't seem to be interested."

Marzola also worried that Goodell's name on the ticket would discourage many Republicans from voting.

Lanigan, in speaking to delegates at the GOP state meeting, noted that "almost without exception, there has been a decline in Republican voting in gubernatorial years, partly because of a drain by splinter and third-party candidates."

"Such votes are wasted," he said in an attempt to pacify disgruntled committeemen.

Already the GOP has launched a major project to get out the vote for the election.

This is the usual project for political parties at election time, but this year Republicans may have a little extra impetus.

Grim New Look For Nuclear War

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Most studies of nuclear war center on the number of people killed, the industry and agriculture destroyed and the disease and hunger that would engulf the survivors.

An unpublished study which has come into this reporter's hands looks at nuclear war from a different angle.

It asks what kind of people would be killed and what kind survive—in terms of skills, administrative abilities and political attitudes.

The conclusion of the authors (both sociology research men) is that in some "typical" attacks they have calculated the death rate of the technically skilled would be so much greater than the over-all death rate that the re-organization of this country after an all-out nuclear attack would be exceedingly difficult.

The authors assume a 2,000 megaton attack on 70 major U.S. cities. They assume (for purpose of their study) that the shelter systems in these cities would be ineffective.

The commonly accepted over-all death toll for such an attack is 46 per cent of the total population. That's only a part of the story.

The men who made these studies calculated that such an attack would kill two-thirds of the nation's doctors, physical scientists, chemists, dentists, lawyers, clerks, manufacturing managers, printers, machinists, foremen and editors.

And three-fourths of the nation's accountants, authors, architects, draftsmen, electrical, industrial and mechanical engineers, social scientists and tool-and-die makers.

They estimate 93 per cent of those of Jewish faith would die, along with two-thirds of the Roman Catholics and one-third of the Protestants.

More Democrats would die than Republicans—and of the Democrats, more northern Democrats would perish than southern Democrats.

The result, these men believe, would be a major change in the political balance of the American system.

The reason for these unexpected results is simple. Men and women with particular skills and backgrounds have tended to concentrate in the large cities. Other skills and backgrounds tend toward the smaller towns and rural living.

The striking unbalance in the skills and backgrounds of those killed in such an attack (if these calculations even approximate the results) would lead, these authors believe, to strains that might be impossible to overcome.

From the standpoint of recovery, they claim, it is a much greater problem than would be presented if say half the U.S. population were destroyed—but the half that died and the half that lived were roughly the same in skills, background and abilities.

These conclusions, if valid, underscore the importance of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks now going on in Vienna between the United States and the Soviet Union.

A Look at New Germany

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Washington Correspondent

BERLIN — (NEA) — The setting was one of those small, low-ceilinged rooms into which many celebrated though tucked-away European restaurants are divided. As eight American newsmen were getting their first taste of Berlin, suddenly a curious figure appeared in the doorway.

He was Wolfgang Gruner, proprietor of the place. To say that of him is not even to scuff the surface.

Slightly built, clad only in nondescript trousers and a pale blue knitted sport shirt opened at the throat, he looked 20 years older than he said he was. His thick, gray-white hair and deeply seamed face were the etching of what cruel times had done to him.

First he was with the German armies which crunched through Holland, Belgium and France in World War II. Wounded, he returned to Berlin. He recovered, so off he went again, this time to the bitterly cold, hated Russian front. Once more he was wounded, and roundabout through Denmark he finally reached Berlin a second time.

There he was, in the climactic spring of 1945, when Soviet armies pulverized their way into the already bomb-shattered city.

He was captured, like thousands of other soldiers. On the first leg of his journey to Soviet imprisonment, he walked 180 miles east from Berlin to Poxnan, Poland. It took three and a half weeks.

Thereafter, he was carted off to Kharkov, Russia's fourth largest city, where he rotted in prison for five years.

Home in Berlin at last in 1950, he found his way slowly. At one level, he moved toward building a successful little restaurant. But at another, vastly more important, he evolved into a superb political satirist and made of his place a "political cabaret."

Though two other political cabaret groups thrive in West Germany, Gruner's troupe, "The Porcupines," surely is the most famous. As a regular on nationwide television, he is as familiar a figure as Chancellor Will Brandt. Now and then he combines with another group and they carry on for hours before a wide viewing audience.

Gruner is a master of some 20 German dialects, and he turns deftly from one to another, punning as he goes. He challenges his listeners to keep pace with the stinging barbs he fires at West Germany's public figures. He is as feared as he is admired—but he is not curbed even though his shafts sink home painfully.

His slashing satire makes him unique. Yet he is also typical of the Berliner of 1970, who so often uses sharp wit to sustain himself in a beleaguered city, fed only by fragile lines from the West, aging too fast, in peril of at least partial death, smelling daily the dank odors of Communist oppression that wait over the crude wall.

Gruner need only look in the mirror to remind himself of the horror of war. His concerns today go well beyond preventing a new holocaust.

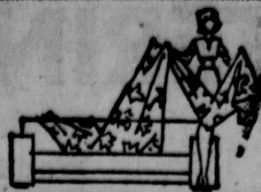

He thinks he sees still, in the powerful New Germany, too much dodging of the hard issues by the leaders, too much energy and drive channeled into crass materialism, too much shrugging off of burdens of responsibility by individual Germans, who so short a time ago emerged from a nightmare of shouting leadership that promised to "do all."

He looks for new means of stirring the best of the human spirit. In his restaurant he hires ex-convicts so they can cite a decent reference when they go elsewhere. The day after he saw us, he went to Tegel prison to perform for prisoners starved for a look at the world outside.

He no longer performs at his own restaurant. He came there that night unexpectedly, just to see a handful of U.S. newsmen. Why?

He never told us. But maybe he thought of us as reflectors of the American mood of the age, and came to scan our faces in search of some signs of promise for a better tomorrow—a tomorrow he fears his own land has not found the shape of even as it sweats and strives and arches its immense economic power around the globe.

Do It Yourself

Repairing Windows Is Easy and It Saves Money

It is a good idea to learn how to replace a broken window pane yourself, because it isn't difficult and the cost of labor is likely to be higher than the cost of materials.

In addition to the tools you should have a pair of heavy work gloves to protect your hands from glass and splinters.

First step is to remove the broken pieces of glass. Most of the glass will come out with a little pulling. Those pieces that don't can be left until you have removed the putty. If the glass is only cracked, remove the putty, then remove the glass in one piece.

Use a chisel or a putty knife to scrape away the putty, taking care not to damage the wood. If the putty is too hard to remove this way, soften it by applying a soldering iron for short intervals.

The triangular shaped bits of metal you come across as you remove the putty are called glazier points. Pull these out of the sash for a new piece of glass. Subtract an eighth of an inch from each dimension. This will allow an easier fit and leaves room for possible expansion and contraction of the wood during weather changes. A snug fit often results in a cracked window pane.

Glass as available at most hardware stores. Dealers will cut it to size for you.

Glazing compound has pretty much replaced linseed oil putty for windows. The compound is less likely to dry out and crack. If you do use putty, brush the frame with linseed oil so that it won't soak up the oil in the putty. It's not a bad idea to do it anyway, since it is good for the wood.

Take a handful of compound and roll out a thin ribbon between your palms, no thicker than a pencil. Press this into place in the channel where you will put the glass. Do all four sides before setting in the new glass.

Place the top edge in first, then press down all around. With the glass in place insert the glazier points — those little metal triangles. Use new ones since the old ones are likely to be rusty, dull or bent. Start them in with your fingers and then drive them in a little more with the flat edge of a chisel or screwdriver.

The glazier points will hold the glass in place while you finish putting. Roll out more ribbons of putty and lay them along the edge of the glass. Use a putty knife to bevel and smooth the putty so that it resembles the other windows. It should not show through the window from the inside.

Green Thumb Suggests Recipes for Rose Tea

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Rose pods (called "hips") are a good source of tea full of vitamins. There are many recipes available but not all of them have worked out well for us. While oranges, lemons, tomatoes, peppers, lemons and grapefruit are the main source of Vitamin C, the richest source so far is in the seed pods of roses.

For example, citrus contains 49 milligrams per 100 grams of fruit, but rose pods contain 1100 to 6900 mg. of Vitamin C per 100 grams. The best rose "hips" are produced by the wild type Rugosa rose, but such hybrids as Tailisman, Herbert Hoover and others are good sources of Vitamin C. To gather the "hips" at the right time is an essential art of harvesting the rich vitamin C usually in early fall when blooming is over. The pods are ripe when a bright scarlet color and are overripe when dark maroon, unripe when orange. Pick them when ripe, or bright, scarlet color.

Here's a simple recipe: Wash the pods, dry them a little, then take both ends off, cut in half, dry thoroughly, put into glass jar and put lid on. For tea, using fruit, but rose pods contain 1100 to 6900 mg. of Vitamin C per 100 grams. The best rose "hips" are produced by the wild type Rugosa rose, but such hybrids as Tailisman, Herbert Hoover and others are good sources of Vitamin C. To tom. If you don't, the leaves will yellow or drop when the plant is brought indoors in the fall.

STARTING PERENNIALS: You can start a lot of your own perennials by dividing the plants now, or taking stem cuttings while the growth is young and tender. Take shoot about 3 inches long, remove lower leaves and place the cuttings about one-third length in washed sand, perlite or vermiculite. Press firmly around the base and water them well. Encase the rooting pot or box in a plastic bag (such as your dry cleaner brings you), which acts as a miniature greenhouse. After the cuttings are rooted, pot them up and grow them on for root development. Or you can plant them directly in the garden, or store them in a cold frame.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "Our Junipers along the foundation of our home have yellowed foliage. Please tell us what causes this?"

Answer: Look for red spider mites. They cause leaves to twist and give the entire plant a yellowish cast. Mites are too small to be seen with naked eye. Spray with Kelthane, 1 tablespoon to a gallon of water.

If foliage on inside of evergreens turns yellow and sheds now, do not worry. It's normal for most evergreens to do this now.

Poison Proof Your House

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — seven simple steps to "poison-proof" a home:

—Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of children.

Store medicines separately from household products. Never put cleaning materials or other toxic products in cups or soft drink bottles.

—Be sure that all products are labeled properly, and read the label before using.

—Always turn the light on when giving or taking medicine.

—Since children tend to imitate adults, avoid taking medicine in their presence.

—Never call medicine "candy." When left alone, children may take you at your word and swallow the contents of a bottle.

—Clean out the medicine cabinet periodically. Get rid of old medicines by flushing them down the drain, rinsing the container in water, and then discarding it.

These steps were listed by Dr. Louis F. Saylor, California Public Health Director.

Why are so many Kingston pool buyers saying "Gunite"?

Our advertising has had nothing to do with it. This is the first ad we've run here. But our success story has somehow travelled down from the Capital where we introduced residential Gunite swimming pools for the first time in the $4,000 range.

Gunite is pneumatically applied concrete — a process that produces the only kind of pool that's structurally guaranteed for as long as you own it. We've built thousands of larger Gunite pools all over the east. For country clubs, schools, parks and even a few private estates. In fact, we've just contracted to build the new Kingston YMCA pool.

We're in the area now, with our skilled crews. And we'd like to keep them busy on your kind of pool.

There's a lot more to the Paddock Gunite story, and we'd like you to know all about it. If you're interested in a permanent pool — that can be built to any shape you can imagine — call collect or write — right now, 518-459-3121.

Unhappy Night for Judges In Nevada State Prison

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — The 23 judges who spent a night in Nevada State Prison sounded almost as unhappy as convicts.

"After that experience I'm going to work for total reform of our prisons," said Judge Tom Lee of Miami, Fla., remarking that prisons are "just warehouses which house criminals."

"The appalling thing is that we aren't really correcting," he told reporters Thursday. "We are putting 18 and 20-year-olds in jail and making hardened criminals out of them."

"I was in a cage like an animal," said Judge E. Newton

Vickers of Topeka, Kan., complaining that prisoners "screamed and rattled cans against the wall all night and I couldn't sleep."

"Ten years in there is like 100 or maybe 200," he said. "They should take two bulldozers out there and tear it down."

My pride is stung," declared Warden Carl Hocker. "I think we run a pretty good operation out there."

The judges, at the Warden's invitation, spent the night in prison as part of a seminar for trial judges at the University of Nevada.

On balance, the warden indicated, the visit was better for convicts than for judges. "Oftentimes the inmates feel rejected and are outcasts and nobody is interested in them," Hocker said. "Any interest shown in them is really appreciated, particularly this group...this affords the chance to dispel a lot of misinformation."

Judge Robert Bryan of Bremerton, Wash., spent the night in solitary and later questioned its value as a disciplinary device.

He said he was afraid to let his foot hang over the bunk because the solitary cell's toilet, nothing more than an opening in the floor, flushed automatically every five minutes.

"I was afraid if I let my foot hang over the bunk it would get caught and I would be gone forever," Bryan said.

Iceland Premier, Wife, Kin Perish in House Blaze

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Iceland's premier, Bjarni Benediktsson, his wife and a grandson were killed in a fire at the premier's summer home Thursday night.

A priest living nearby discovered the fire in the wooden cottage at Glingveile, 30 miles from Reykjavik. He raised the alarm, but when firemen reached the house, they found the three bodies.

The cottage was owned by the government and was used by members of the cabinet.

A former law professor and mayor of Reykjavik, Dr. Benediktsson was 62. He became chairman of the Independence party and premier in November 1963, when Premier Olafur Thors resigned because of his health. Benediktsson had been minister of justice and then foreign minister under Thors.

Naked Barmaids Ordered to Wear Pasties and Panties

By ROBERT D. LURATI
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—Naked barmaids have been ordered by the state to patch on pasties and step into panties, and topless-bottomless dancers have been told to wear at least "a fig leaf."

Furthermore, nightclub entertainment must not include nudes gyrating luridly.

Those orders were contained in new regulations adopted Thursday by the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Department.

"This is silly if they are going to kick up such a fuss after it's been going on for so long," said Linda Cochran, 25, a blonde topless waitress in San Francisco, when told of the new rules.

Sandy Matson, 26, also a topless waitress in San Francisco and a former Peace Corps member, said: "Pasties are gross. They are a pain." A spokesman for several clubs in San Francisco's North Beach area, birthplace of topless dancing, said owners would ignore the new rules and have the whole issue resolved in the courts.

Rules were less stringent for the dancers themselves, since no mention was made of bare breasts, but dancers must perform on a stage 18 inches off the ground and six feet away from onlookers.

The rules, which become effective Aug. 1, were adopted after the ABC studied testimony delivered during a public hearing in May. Besides the guidelines for waitresses and dancers the department set regulations for films or still pictures at nude clubs.

An ABC spokesman said violation of the new rules would result in disciplinary action against the liquor license owner.

Person-Dorn

Miss Kathy Person exchanged wedding vows with Philip Dorn on Saturday, June 27 in First Reformed Church, Catskill, at 10:30 a.m. The Rev. Dr. Ralph Key, Abington, Va., officiated at the double ring ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were played. Four arrangements of pink carnations and white gladioli decorated the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Person, Will Palmer Road, Catskill. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Ms. Adolph Dorn, Des Plaines, Ill.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza and Peau D'Ange lace. The gown featured a scalloped neckline and full bishop sleeves. The chapel length train was edged with a deep border of matching lace. Her silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized headpiece of satin flowers and seed pearls.

The maid of honor was Miss Linda Atkins of Catskill. She wore an Empire gown of violet dotted Swiss with a scooped neckline and long full sleeves. The waist was accented with silk floral braid with a bow and streamer detail of loden green satin ribbon. She wore a stylized headpiece in matching color and carried a white basket of pink and violet daisies with pink ribbon.

Attendants were the Misses Sharon O'Keefe, Schenectady; Cathy Radi, Yorktown Heights; and Doranne Gaker, New Jersey. Their bonbon pink gowns were fashioned similarly to the honor attendant's and they carried white baskets filled with daisies and trimmed with violet ribbon.

David Dorn was best man for his brother. Ushers were John Cady, New Jersey, Bill Ottinger and Billy Person, brother of the bride, both of Catskill.

A reception for 100 guests was given at the Sawyerkill Restaurant, Saugerties.

Mrs. Dorn is an alumna of Central University of Iowa and is employed as an elementary grade school teacher by the Catskill Central School system. Her husband was graduated from Forest View High School, Des Plaines, Ill., and Central University of Iowa. He plans to teach school in the fall.

Rollin James Brown Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin James Brown Sr., High Falls.

The Rev. Richard Brihm officiated at the double ring ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were played and the altar was decorated with vases of white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a peau de soie empire gown accented with rose lace and styled with long tapered sleeves. Her chapel length veil was secured to a pillbox headpiece of rose lace and she carried a cascade of roses and daisies.

Mrs. Linda Reis, aunt of the bride, Kingston, was matron of honor. She wore a dark blue dotted Swiss gown with a daisy applique trim on the sleeves and waist and daisy appliques in her hair. She carried blue and white daisies.

Attendants were Miss Marianne Rafaldi of Shokan and Miss Laura Bogert of Stone Ridge. They wore red gowns identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried bouquets of red flowers.

Miss Suzanne Carter, sister of the bride, served as flower girl in a blue gown.

Bruce Ruffner of High Falls was best man. Ushers were Donald Reis, uncle of the bride, Kingston; and Richard Stokes of High Falls. Roger Brown, brother of the bridegroom, served as ringbearer.

A reception for 100 guests was given at the Alpine.

The bride wore a white knit ensemble with red, white and blue accessories for her wedding journey to Coopers-town.

Mrs. Brown is attending Rondout Valley School. Her husband is employed by Carter Holiday Gulf Station.

The couple will make their home in High Falls.

Feddes-Kelly

Miss Janice Arlyne Feddes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Feddes, Ruby, became the bride of Michael Anthony Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kelly, 328 Hasbrouck Avenue, Kingston, on Sunday, July 5 at 2 p.m. in St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock. The Rev. David Arnold officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The Rt. Rev. Steven Mid-dernacht provided traditional wedding selections. Vases of white gladioli and spider chrysanthemums decorated the altar and white satin ribbons marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace over silk taffeta fashioned with a fitted empire bodice, high ring neckline and short lace sleeves. White satin ribbon encircled the waist. The cathedral length veil of lace edged illusion was attached to a lace Camelot cap. She carried a nosegay of white daisies and baby's breath.

The bride's sister, Miss Barbara Feddes, Ruby, was maid of honor. Attendants were Mrs. Arlene Feddes, sister-in-law of the bride, Sawkill; and Miss Patricia Dachenhausen, Ruby. They wore floor-length gowns of yellow chiffon with fitted Empire bodices, high ruffled necklines and short sleeves. The A-line skirts featured Watteau panels of chiffon in the back. They wore large yellow picture hats and carried nosegays of white daisies.

Carmine Bertone, 46 Janet Street, Kingston, was best man. Ushers were Lawrence Wonderly, 80 Jervis Avenue, Kingston; and Gary Feddes, brother of the bride, Sawkill.

A reception for 50 guests was given at the Skytop Restaurant.

For her wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, Pa., the bride wore a pale pink crepe dress with matching accessories and a pink orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated in 1969 from Kingston High School. She is now attending Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services, School of Nursing.

Her husband is a 1968 graduate of Kingston High School and a 1970 graduate of Ulster County Community College. He will attend Marist College in September, 1970. He is employed by IBM, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will reside in Ruby.

King-DiMauro

Miss Carolyn Louise King, Box 60, Route 4, Saugerties, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard King, 5 River Street, Richfield Springs, became the bride of Claude DiMauro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward DiMauro, 118 Union Street, Hudson, on Saturday, June 27 in Hudson.

The Rev. Cletus J. Delioiacono, O.F.M., J.C.D., Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Jean Antonech, organist, accompanied the Rev. Delioiacono and Mrs. Margaret Iaccino in a duet and other traditional wedding selections. Large bouquets of white gladioli decorated the altar and white satin bows and streamers marked the family pews.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of white skinner satin designed with an A-line skirt and rosepoint lace long sleeves with Bishop cuffs. The detachable train of skinner satin was edged with a border of scalloped rosepoint lace and sequins. The bodice and front of the gown were trimmed with the same lace and sequins. The bride wore a Dior bow of skinner satin with a fingertip veil of pure silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white miniature carnations and seed pearls.

Miss Susan London, Kingston, served as maid of honor. Mrs. Vaughn Tennant, Van Hornesville; Mrs. Harold Collins II, Richfield, Springs, both sisters of the bride; and Mrs. Gordon Powell, Schenectady, were attendants. They wore gowns of violet voile styled with stand-up lace ruffled collars, fitted bodices and long puff sleeves with Bishop cuffs. Their short veils were shirred to matching bows. The honor attendant carried a cascade of lilac Hawaiian orchids and white and pink pompons. The bridesmaids carried cascades of pink Hawaiian orchids and lilac pompons.

Miss Marcia Elgani, niece of the bridegroom, Hudson, served as flower girl. She wore a pink gown and carried a miniature bridal bouquet. Allan Lasher, Germantown, was best man. Ushers were Joseph Caruso, cousin of the bridegroom, New Haven, Conn.; Angelo Raquano, Hudson; and Vincent Nicolosi, Kingston. Eduardo Elgani, nephew of the bridegroom, Hudson, served as ringbearer.

MRS. MICHAEL A. KELLY

MRS. CLAUDE DI MAURO

A wedding dinner was served to 150 guests at Elmer's Inn, Ruby.

The couple went to London, England for their wedding trip to be followed by a month's stay in Italy. The bride wore a navy blue bonded knit jersey ensemble, matching accessories, and a white carnation corsage.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Richfield Spa Central School and a 1966 graduate of State Agricultural and Technical College at Cobleskill where she received an Associate in Applied Science degree in Nursery Education. She is employed by the Jewish Community Center Nursery School as a teacher. She taught summer crafts there also.

Her husband, a native of Amorosi, Italy, received his early education there. He completed his high school education and served with the U.S. Army. He is employed as a carpenter in house construction under contract. He was formerly employed as a machinist by Anti-Corrosive Company, Castleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Di Mauro will make their home in Red Hook, N.Y.

Awarded Medical Degree

Michael J. Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher D. Morris, Woodstock, has been awarded the degree of Doctor of Medicine at Cornell University Medical College.

Dr. Morris is a graduate of Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie, and Cornell University, Ithaca, where he was awarded a full four year scholarship to medical school. He spent the month of May in Woodstock, Vt., working with Ottaquechee Health Center physicians, under the cooperative program in Community Medicine with Dartmouth Medical School, Hanover, N. H., where he is now interning with the goal of practicing in the New England area.

The Center - Dartmouth program is designed to provide physicians in training the opportunity to examine and participate in the delivery of health care in a rural area, providing experience which cannot be obtained within the University hospital. The aim of this program is to encourage those physicians in training who are so inclined to accept a rural general practice.

Dr. Morris is now living in White River Junction, Vt., with his wife, the former Susan Lampert, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Norman Lampert of Wantagh, L. I., and his two children.

Sunday Concert Is Scheduled At West Point

The United States Military Academy Band will present its fourth in the current series of "Concerts on the Hudson" Sunday, July 12, at 8 p.m. at the Trophy Point amphitheater.

Trumpeter Bruce Rhoten will play the solo from Bach's "Hungarian Melodies." The program also includes "Emperor Waltz" by Strauss, "La Gazza Ladra" by Rossini, the polka and fugue from "Schwanda the Bagpiper" by Weinberger, "Rakoczy March" by Berlioz and the march "On the Hudson" by Goldman.

The concert series continues each Sunday evening through August 30. Admission is free. When weather does not permit an outdoor concert, the evening's program will be cancelled.

COMMITTEE FOR ISRAEL NIGHT — Mrs. Edwin Kalish (L-R) Mrs. Fred Shaymow, Mrs. Gerald Feit and Mrs. Robert Selinger are completing plans for a gala Israel Night scheduled for July 18 at the Jewish Community Center Camp on Hurley Mountain Road, Hurley. The program will get underway at 9 p. m. Those attending are promised an evening of fun and entertainment under the stars. Tickets will be sold and proceeds will enable the Jewish Community Center to carry on its various projects. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Library Fair At New Paltz

The Elting Memorial Library lawn will be the scene of the annual Library Fair this Saturday, (July 11) from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Since this yearly event is a family affair, there will be something for everyone including the children. A Hand Puppet Show is planned for 11 a.m., 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. There is a game booth with prizes for the winners; a Toy Booth for the sale of toys and a peanut guess with a prize for the nearest correct guess.

For the other members of the family there are booths for the sale of jewelry, books, records, specialty magazines, opportunity items such as china, silverware, linens, knickknack and some pieces of furniture. There are other booths for the sale of baked goods, plants, and a special attraction called "Treasure Trove."

In the late morning at 11:30 a.m., an auction of new merchandise will take place with Dr. John Neumaier, president of State University College at New Paltz, serving as auctioneer. This is always a fast moving highlight of the Fair.

CURTIS QUARTET, well known string ensemble, will give a concert in Maverick Hall on Sunday, July 12 at 3 p. m. Members of the quartet are the original founding musicians, Jascha Brodsky, Max Aronoff and Orlando Cole. Yumi Ninomiya, a distinguished violinist joined the Quartet in June of 1969 and Lachlan Pitcairn, cellist, will be the assisting artist in "Boccherini Quintet in C Major." The other works will be "Quartet in F," by Prokofiev, and "Quartet in D," by Mendelssohn. The Curtis Quartet is one of the oldest chamber music aggregations in the United States and one of the best known. It has distinguished itself both here and abroad in more than 2,500 concerts for two decades. The cellist is a resident of Glenford.

CABRINI KIDS AT CARNIVAL — It was a merry go-round for 125 children from the Cabrini School in West Park who attended the Coleman Brothers Carnival Thursday. Richard Coleman, owner of the carnival is in the foreground watching the children enjoy themselves while Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin looks on. Coleman provided free candy, cotton candy and soda for the children in addition to free rides for the afternoon. The children were transported to the carnival via Ackert Bus Lines which donated its services with the help of two volunteer bus drivers. The carnival is sponsored by Excelior Hose Co. which has made an annual event of inviting the children from St. Cabrini's. The sheriff's department also participated in children's day at the carnival. (Freeman photo by Haines).

'Disappointed' by Neumaier

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. have expressed "disappointment" over the reaction of Dr. John J. Neumaier, president of the State University College at New Paltz to the call for a study by the College Council of Neumaier's administration.

Peter J. Savago, chairman of the County Legislature, said he is in agreement with them.

Bell and Rolison, in a joint statement, said today, "admittedly, confusion and controversy surround the recent events at the New Paltz Campus. Dr. Neumaier, to date, has not put the full record before our community for evaluation and, accordingly, doubts continue to linger concerning the judgment and the effectiveness of the Neumaier administration."

On Monday, Lawrence A. Quilty, of Kingston, chairman of the New Paltz College Council, sent a letter to Dr. Samuel B. Gould, chancellor of the State University of New York requesting a study of the effectiveness of New Paltz College in "accomplishing its total educational mission during the past year."

Neumaier reacted at a press conference voicing grave concern for the future of the College at New Paltz and concluded that the college was "faced with a political challenge of serious dimension."

PETER J. SAVAGO

H. CLARK BELL

JAY P. ROLISON JR.

Neumaier added, "Can it be possible that we are witnessing a return to that infamous period in our recent history known as 'McCarthyism'?"

Bell and Rolison had this to say about that Neumaier statement: "By inferring in his press release that those who desire to know 'the facts and the truth' are anti-intellectual, an anti-student, anti-academic, reactionary, neo-McCarthyites, Dr. Neumaier does little to restore stability in the community. Dr. Neumaier's reaction to the study request by the Council, unfortunately, will probably further polarize an already badly split community. Dr. Neumaier's reaction is divisive and it is driving the community further apart."

Reiterating their support for a complete study of New Paltz College, Bell and Rolison said, "Self preservation is a human characteristic, however a person holding a position of public trust must be prepared to set forth all the facts, not just the complimentary ones. The full record must be available for public scrutiny so that rumor and fiction can be separated from fact and reality."

"Apparently the College Council believes the full record of what happened at New Paltz can best be developed by an objective disinterested third party study and the Council has accordingly requested the chancellor's office to conduct a study of Neumaier's administration."

Bell and Rolison continued, "It had been hoped that Dr. Neumaier would welcome an objective study conducted by a disinterested third party under the auspices of the chancellor's office so as to clear the air around New Paltz. . . We were advised that Dr. Neumaier was asked to join the council's request for such a clarifying study and much to our disappointment, Dr. Neumaier refused."

Savago said, "I see no reason why he (Dr. Neumaier) does not want a complete study of the situation."

"One thing is clear," Bell and Rolison said, "the public, the taxpayers who support and finance this college, have a right to know just what happened at New Paltz. The Neumaier Administration cannot claim nor should it have immunity from the principles of public accountability for official acts performed. Perhaps when the full record is available for public scrutiny it will substantiate that the judgment and actions of the Neumaier Administration were justified. The community, however, will never know until the full record of exactly what happened at New Paltz is developed and presented for public evaluation."

In conclusion the two representatives said, "The Daily Freeman, in an editorial appearing on July 7, 1970, went to the core of the matter and put it well when it said, 'The people are entitled to a full and exhaustive objective evaluation.' " "With this we concur."

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 10, 1970 THIRTEEN

Fireworks, Philharmonic

MILAN 7:30 p.m. A crowd of more than 10,000 people is expected to file into Wilcox Memorial Park here Saturday night for an evening of fireworks and the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. There will be no charge, which is sponsored by Dutchess County and the F.M. Schaefer Brewing Co. The beer company is contributing $1,500 toward the expected $2,000 cost of the event.

The Philharmonic will offer Handel's "Water Music," the "Hoffner Symphony" by Mozart, Rossini's "La Gazza Lutra Overture," and "L'Arlesienne Suite" by Bizet. Ross Reimuller will be guest conductor.

The Camerate Choral will sing works by Brahms, Beethoven, and two gospel rock numbers "Up and Get Us Gone" and "Kaleidoscopic Colors." Both of the latter will be accompanied by guitars and drums.

The concert finale will be the National Anthem with audience participation. A replica of the American flag will be ignited in fireworks in the sky.

The performers and the fireworks will be at beachside, with the audience seated around in the natural grassy amphitheater's slopes.

The fireworks display will precede the musical entertainment, which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Because of the anticipated large influx of traffic to the rural county park, a second entrance will be open for use off Cold Spring Road, a Taconic Parkway exit. The regular entrance off Route 199, Lafayetteville, will be in use.

It is not meant to resemble the theme demonstrated in Washington, D. C. July 4, but to "create interest in the park," he said. "It's just a community thing."

County Representative R. William Van Norstrand, chairman of the board's Capital Projects and Planning Committee, said that three additional parking areas will be available for the event.

In the event that rain should fall on the evening, the concert will be rescheduled for Sunday at 3 p.m. The fireworks display cannot be rescheduled.

USO Completes Its Survey

RHINEBECK necessary to insure delivery in time for the holidays. Favorite items listed by the military men are: small flashlights, terrycloth towels, inflatable pillows, playing cards, packaged cocoa or fruit drinks, canned food and nuts, paperback books, shaving equipment, and sewing kits. Also requested are plastic bags, heavy duty work socks, holiday decorations, foot spray, miniature chess and checker sets, candles and writing materials.

The USO advises that U.S. postal authorities will not accept packages addressed to "Any Serviceman." A list of USO club directors in Vietnam, Thailand and Korea who have specific APO or FPO addresses can be obtained from the local United Fund office.

Donors pay postage from their hometown to the APO or FRP address in the United States only. Packages should be gift wrapped and labeled, as to contents to expedite handling and distribution through the USO clubs and air-drop to remote areas.

A more extensive list of the GI's favorite items can also be obtained by contacting the nearest office of the United Fund.

Named Bard VP

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON Robert J. Bruce, currently director of development at Bard College, was named Vice President at a recent meeting of the college's board of trustees, according to Dr. Reamer Kline, president.

Bruce, a Boston native, is a graduate of Colby College. He did graduate work in philosophy and psychology at Boston State College and received his Master's Degree in 1964. The following year he held a Fulbright teaching grant in England, and in 1965 was appointed a development officer at Colby College. He left that position to come to Bard last year.

Sato Rejects View of Asian Leaders

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese people would never permit Japan to take over the military role of the United States in Asia and the Pacific after American forces withdraw, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato says.

The Japanese leader sharply rejected the view of Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos and some other Asian leaders that Japan ultimately would have to assume major responsibility for law and order in eastern Asia.

"We may be able to possess military strength adequate for self-defense," he said in an interview. "But the Japanese people would never allow us to take over the role of the U.S."

"To avoid any misunderstandings such as entertained by President Marcos let me say: Historically countries with economic might have great military power. In the case of Japan, we are resolved not to use the armed forces. That is what we proclaimed 25 years ago in the no-war constitution."

Sato said Japan's future policy would be to "extend cooperation commensurate with our strength for the prosperity of the countries of Asia."

"In extending such cooperation," he added, "a bilateral formula may cause misunderstandings that Japan seeks economic domination. So we prefer a formula in association with other countries in giving aid."

On relations with the United States, Sato said Japan must take a "courageous step toward liberalizing" its trade position.

"I don't think we can continue protectionism," he said.

"We shall never be ungrateful for the support the United States extended to us which enabled us to rehabilitate ourselves after World War II," he said. "But even close friends and loving couples have misunderstandings."

"Fortunately, U.S.-Japan relations will not be broken. We are good friends although it is regrettable that the textile negotiations failed. Our relations will not be spoiled or distorted by the passage of the Mills bill."

That legislation by Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, would impose quotas on woolen and synthetic textile imports at the 1967 levels for countries which do not agree to limit such shipments voluntarily.

Sato said he told Secretary of State William P. Rogers during the visit which ended today. "Although it is regrettable about textiles, the thread between the two countries has not been broken."

"He thought I said 'threat' and he looked surprised," the prime minister added.

The prime minister advised caution in the reduction of U.S. forces in Asia.

"Even if the United States wants to withdraw, will the situation permit it?" he asked.

"That is one thing the U.S. should consider."

"As a consequence of the last world war there are many problems remaining. One of the most important of these problems is that of the four divided countries: Three of the four—China, Korea and Vietnam—are in Asia."

"So long as such divided countries exist, it seems to us the maintenance of some military presence by the United States is necessary."

"With this military presence and with economic assistance to the developing nations, we will be able to maintain peace."

Sato also ruled out any special role for Japan in Southeast Asia.

"To think that Japan should have a voice in Southeast Asia while the U.S. has a voice in Europe and Africa is a mistake when the world is so small. All of us are concerned with all parts of the world," he said.

Sato disclosed that he assured Rogers his government has decided to give assistance to Cambodia and has set a fixed amount for aid.

"Talks are progressing" with Cambodian officials, he said, and "as the result of these talks we will consider what we will do."

He said Japan already has provided Cambodia with the equivalent of $2 million in assistance through the Japan Red Cross.

The United States has been urging Japan to step up its assistance to Cambodia and South Vietnam, particularly in view of Japan's increasingly large trading position in Southeast Asia.

Subdivision Is Defined

By JON POWERS ELLENVILLE Wawarsing is not so big that a large developer can break the law and not be noticed and that the planning board can catch it. Several taxpayers expressed opposition to the change, stating that the planning board was merely adding more "red tape" that landowners in the area must contend with.

About 10 townspeople attended the hearing and most urged that several of the proposed amendments will, if passed, place unnecessary burdens on local residents who want to sell parcels of land on a small basis.

The proposed definition of a "subdivision" was one of the most hotly contested items discussed at Thursday's meeting. Several taxpayers expressed opposition to the change, stating that the planning board was merely adding more "red tape" that landowners in the area must contend with.

Under the proposed amendment, a subdivision would refer to the division of a parcel of land into "three or more lots where any one lot is less than one acre in area," and which does not front on an existing public right of way and "five or more lots where each lot is at least one acre in area."

Under existing law, a subdivision is defined as the sale of three or more lots regardless of size.

Those present at the meeting also expressed unanimous opposition to an amended section of the regulations stipulating that violators of the subdivision law may be subject to a 30-day jail term, in addition to a fine.

Several persons, in commenting on this issue, expressed concern that residents ignorant of subdivision requirements might be needlessly and too severely punished. Members of the planning board, however, defended the jail term clause by stating that it was included for protection against large land developers who could afford to pay a nominal fine but who might be discouraged from violating planning regulations if they were faced with a jail sentence.

Town of Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin, however, went on record as being opposed to the jail sentence. "Jails are not popular places," said Harkin, "and until we improve our penology system, can't we eliminate the jail sentence?" Harkin concluded his argument against the jail sentence by stating, "Let's trust our people a little and then they'll trust us."

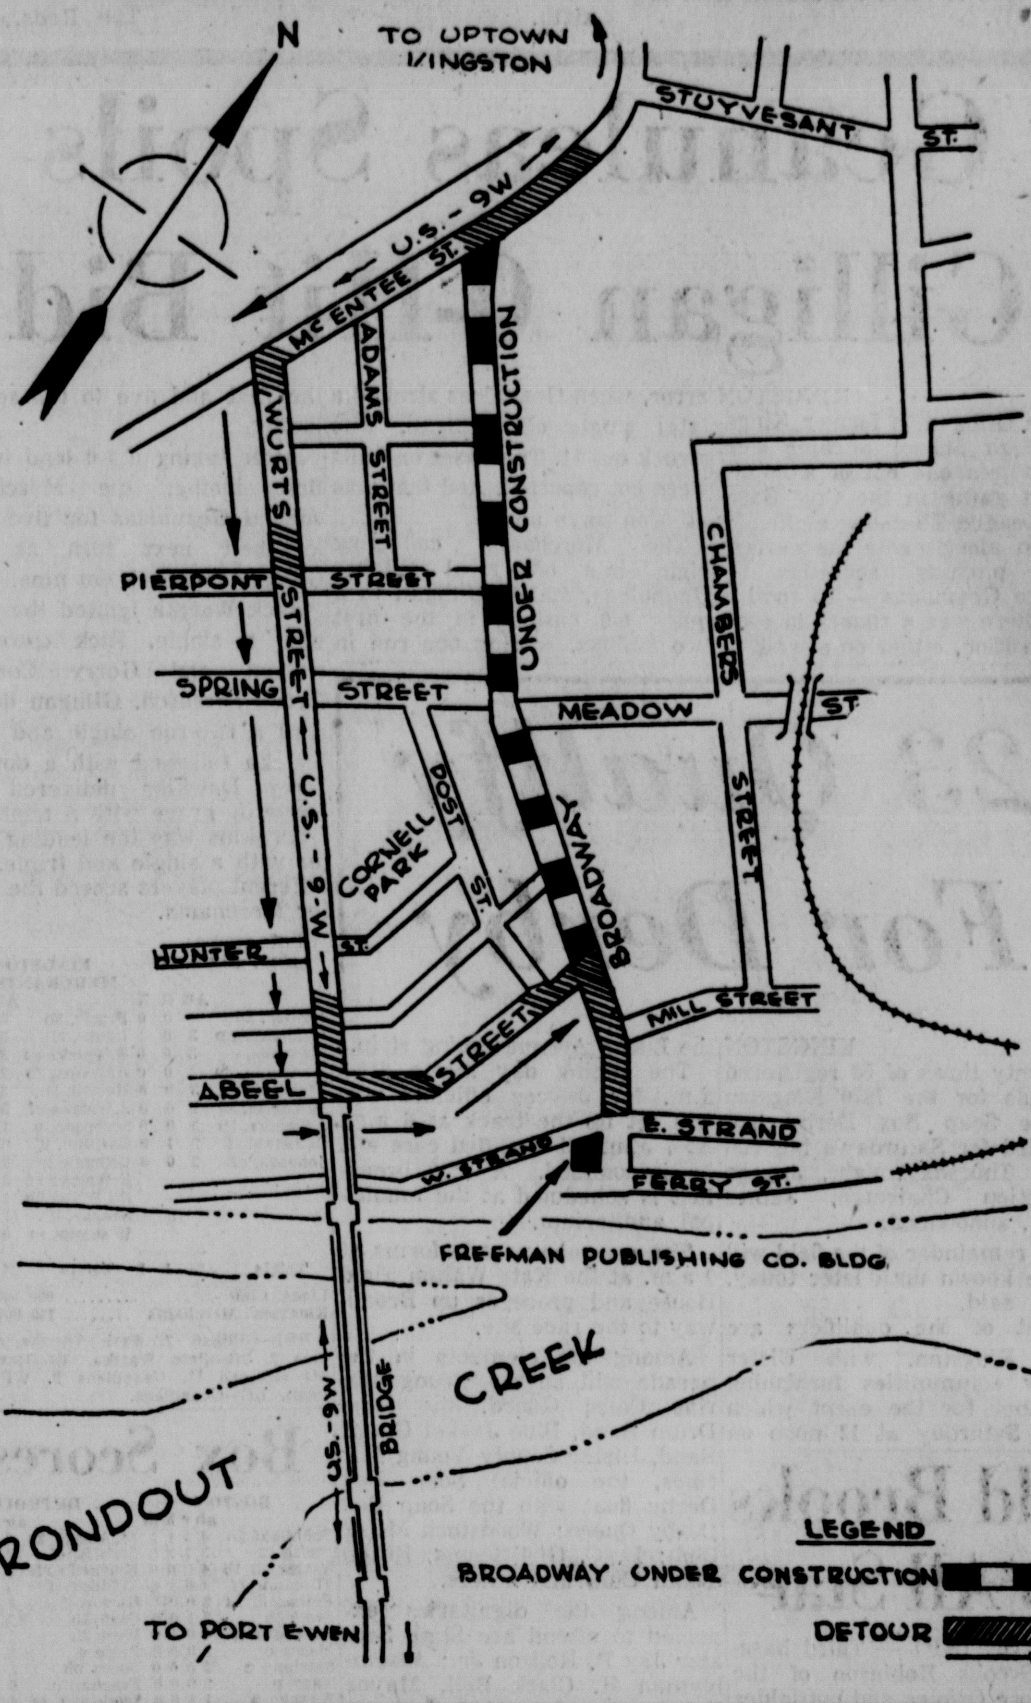

Councilman Frank Sahler, who referred to the jail term as "imprisonment," also came out against the measure.

Several townspeople in the audience took issue with the planning board's contention that the jail term was offered as protection against ruthless developers. They stated that of the regulations.

Most of the other proposed amendments to the Subdivision Regulations involved typographical or spelling mistakes that would be brought to the Board's attention at a public hearing in January.

Another public hearing on the same topics will be held Monday, July 13 at 8 p.m. in the Wawarsing Town Hall. After that hearing, the planning board will make its final recommendations and submit them to the town board.

Seaver's First Homer, 3 Hitter Cool Expos

By United Press International

Tom Seaver pitched a three-hitter and hit his first major league homer and Ron Swoboda added a grand slam homer Thursday night as the New York Mets beat the Montreal Expos, 7-1, for their seventh straight victory.

Seaver's seventh consecutive complete game victory, raising his record to 14-5, tagged Rich Nye with his second loss against two wins. He struck out nine to raise his season total to 177.

Al Weis' sacrifice fly following singles by Joe Foy and Jerry Grote sent the Mets off to a 1-0 lead in the second inning and they increased the lead to 5-0 in the third inning when Swoboda hit his grand slam after singles by Bud Harrelson and Ken Singleton and a walk to Donn Clendenon. Seaver, who led off the fourth with his homer, yielded the Expos' run on Rusty Staub's 13th homer of the season in the sixth.

Tommie Agee of the Mets went 0-for-5 and had his consecutive game hitting streak ended at 19 games.

Steve Huntz' sacrifice fly with one out in the 10th inning sent home Ramon Webster with the run which gave the San Diego Padres a 10-9 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Singles by Webster and Ed Spiezio off loser Wayne Granger preceded Huntz' game-winning fly ball.

The Reds, down 9-1, picked up two runs in the fourth inning on Johnny Bench's two-run homer, and then tied the score at 9-9 with a six-run spurge in the eighth highlighted by Bench's second two-run homer and a three-run pinch homer by Bernie Carbo.

Jim Kennedy's two errors paved the way for four unearned runs in the fifth inning and enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to coast to a 6-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals behind Dock Ellis' five-hitter. Ellis struck out 10 and walked two enroute to his 10th win against six losses.

Willie Mays ranged from first to third on a wild pitch in the 11th inning and scored on an infield out to give the San Francisco Giants a 7-6 triumph over the Atlanta Braves. Mays singled with one out in the 11th — his 2,992 major league hit — and was off and running on a 3- and 2 pitch to Willie McCovey. Dick Dietz then hit a line drive off pitcher Bob Priddy's chest that Priddy could not field in time as Mays scored.

Reliever Don McMahon received credit for his fifth win against one loss.

Denis Menke drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a single to boost the Houston Astros to a 9-5 win over Los Angeles and end a seven-game Dodger winning streak. Menke's grand slam came in the first inning after singles by Jesus Alou and Joe Morgan and a walk to Bob Watson and he singled in the third inning after Joe Pepitone singled and stole second.

Philadelphia and Chicago were idle.

Geanuleas Spoils Gilligan 0-Hit Bid

KINGSTON Ken Gilligan, a former Kingston High School pitching ace, was within one out of a no-hit, no-run game in the City Baseball League Thursday night.

Then along came the current KHS pitching sensation — George Geanuleas — to spoil it all. There was a runner in scoring position, either on a walk or error, when Geanuleas stroked a fatal single off Gilligan, who struck out 11. The bases on balls were not reported. And that was all Ken gave up.

The Merchants, collecting eight hits off rival Pitcher Geanuleas, stalked Gilligan to a quick 6-0 cushion in the first two innings, scoring one run in the first and five in the second inning.

After taking a 1-0 lead in the first inning, the Merchants shelled Geanuleas for five runs in their next turn at bat.

Geanuleas struck out nine. Jack Watzka ignited the rally with a single. Rick Sorenson walked and Gerry Corrado forced Sorenson. Gilligan delivered a two-run single and Pete Watzka followed with a double. Jerry Dawkins delivered the coupe de grace with a triple. Hawkins was the leading batter with a single and triple. Six different players scored the runs for Merchants.

Add Brooks To All Star

BOSTON (AP) — Third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles and outfielder Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins were added to the American League All-Star squad today as the 28-player roster was filled for the annual mid season classic with the National League next Tuesday.

Robinson, beaten out by Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew for a starting berth in the fans' balloting, was named for the 14th consecutive year, while Oliva was picked for the seventh straight time since he joined the Twins as a rookie.

Other reserves chosen by Manager Earl Weaver of Baltimore, who will pilot the AL club at Cincinnati next week, and announced by the league, were catchers Ray Fosse, of Cleveland and Jerry Moses of Boston; infielders Sandy Alomar and Jim Fregosi of California and Tommy Harper of Milwaukee, and outfielders Roy White of New York, Amos Otis of Kansas City, Willie Horton of Detroit and Alex Johnson of California.

Lee Trevino Prays for a Putt

Trevino Goal Is Two 71's

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland

(AP) — "Just give me two straight 71s and I've got the British Open Golf Championship in my pocket," said flamboyant Lee Trevino today as he set out on the tourney's third round.

The 31-year-old self-styled Merry Mexican, playing out of Dallas, was eight-under-par for 36 holes and one-stroke ahead of an incredible field of 80 survivors from the original 134.

He's confident he can stay in front even though defending champion Tony Jacklin, Jack Nicklaus, and a host of Americans and rising British challengers are breathing down his neck.

"When you're leading, you can afford to miss one now and then. Anybody who says he wants to come from behind is a liar," Trevino said.

"I promised my wife four 68's here and I got two of them. If I get two 71's, I'm in."

Whether he can produce this one or not, the ebullient Trevino has a whopper of a program "including all the big ones in America," the Piccadilly World Match Play championship at Wentworth, England, and the Alcan on this side of the water, the World Cup in Argentina, "and by then Santa Claus will be climbing down my chimney."

The British Open is the one he wants now. The title on the ancient Old Course where the game was born and which has become a must for the top Americans.

"I like it, this is a course where a good shot is rewarded and a bad shot is penalized," Trevino said.

"For all the work, playing golf to me is a holiday and even when I take a holiday I play 36 holes a day. I made up my mind I'll get bad weather again like I have here before and so decided to make the best of it and I guess I did."

Trevino led a contingent of 17 Americans into the third round knowing well that a half-dozen British artisans of the sport are offering the stiffest fight they have in a long time.

Jones Grand Slam Reduced to Single

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The longest single of Dalton Jones' career and the shortest rain delay in baseball history has combined to keep Baltimore's East Division leaders within hailing distance in the American League.

Jones delivered what appeared to be a pinch hit grand slam homer Thursday night but was credited with only a single when he passed teammate Don Wert on the basepaths. The mental blunder did no harm because three runs scored on the play and Detroit went on to whip Boston 7-3.

New York, in danger of having a three-run rally in the top of the sixth in Baltimore wiped out by rain, argued a halt in play long enough for a shower to blow over. They managed to get another inning in, making their rally legal and beat the Orioles 7-5 in a game ended by rain in the eighth inning.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday night, Washington whacked Cleveland 9-3; Chicago edged Milwaukee 6-5; and Minnesota topped California 4-2. Kansas City and Oakland were off.

The Tigers and Red Sox were tied at 3-3 in the seventh when Jones belted a two-out drive off the facing of the right field stands with the bases loaded. He was admiring the shot when he passed Wert between first and second and was called out on the technicality infraction.

"I was real excited about the hit," said Jones. "I was watching it and I never realized Wert was there. About half-way between first and second I came to my senses and hoped the umpire didn't see it. But he did. I've never done that before. I've never hit a grand slam either."

The umpire was alert to Jones' blunder and also to the heckling of the Red Sox over some ball-strike calls an inning earlier. Plate umpire John Rice thumbed pitcher Mike Nagy and catcher Gerry Moses and then third base ump Larry Napp cleared the Boston bench, sending all the players to the clubhouse "to cool off." Napp said the players could have come into the game later from the clubhouse but none did.

The victory moved the second place Tigers within six games of Baltimore. The Birds bowed to New York when the Yankees rallied for three unearned runs in the sixth inning—the last two on Jerry Kenney's bases-loaded single.

The start of the game was delayed 27 minutes by rain and it sprinkled throughout. The rain began coming down in earnest with Baltimore at bat in the bottom of the sixth and with two out and a 1-1 count on Don Buford, umpire Hank Soar signalled for the field to be covered.

Had the game been called at that point, the New York runs in the top half of the inning would have been erased and Baltimore would have won 5-4. The Yankees, aware of the jeopardy their lead was in, delayed leaving the field and the sudden shower quickly ended. An inning later, with the runs official, rain ended the game. The victory, only the third in the last 13 games for New York, left the Yanks 6 1/2 games behind.

Carlos May and Ed Herrmann ripped fifth-inning homers that powered the Chicago White Sox past Milwaukee.

May connected with two on and Herrmann with the bases empty as the Sox built a 6-1 lead. The Brewers chipped away at the margin but never caught Chicago.

Washington used home runs by Paul Casanova, Tom Grève and Rick Reichardt to back Coney Cox' five-hit pitching and whip Cleveland.

Casanova also had a double and three RBI as the Senators salvaged the final game after dropping four straight to the Indians. Ray Fosse and Ted Uhlaender homered for Cleveland.

The torrid Twins snapped a 2-tie in the ninth when relief pitcher Tom Hall poked a two-out single and Leo Cadenas followed with a centerfield homer off knuckleballer Eddie Fisher.

The victory, fifth in a row and 10th in 11 games for Minnesota, upped the Twins West Division lead over the second place Angels to six games.

Mid-City SPL Streak Is Snapped at Eight

KINGSTON win over Horn of Plenty 8-5. The Jets rallied for three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to upend Mid-City Lanes 10-9. The loss was the first for Mid-City in nine games and they were the only unbeaten team in the 32-team City Slow Pitch League.

Mid-City belted six home runs. Chick Boice blasted three of them. Ray Lindhorst two and Frank Spinneveber added one homer for the MC team. Gary Snyder had a home run and double to pace the Jets win.

Perry's Restaurant bombed Wayside Inn 23-7. Eric Blackwell led the Perry attack with a home run and single, while Tom Sottile the winning pitcher, stroked five hits in five appearances. Larry McCannley collected a home run and two singles and Stumpy Naccarato smacked a home run and double for Wayside.

Ken Wisner poked a home run and two singles to lead the Chargers to a 15-12 win over Rolling Acres. Roger Steltz and Larry Allen led Frank and Ed's win over Horn of Plenty 8-5. Steltz hit a homer, double, single, and Allen homered and added two singles.

Rhinebeck Merchants took over first place in the National A Division with a 28-10 win over Blue Gardena. Carle Hulle blasted two round trippers, a double and single for the merchants. Tim Bowns hit a homer, double and two singles for the Gardenas. Dave Meeks added a Gardena homer.

John Bruck hit a homer, double and single to lead Carroll's to a 14-1 win over the Post Office. Art Gibbons added a homer for Carroll's and Ken Hopper hit a four-bagger for the Mailmen.

By JIM BOUTON
STILL CAN'T BELIEVE I'm pitching day after tomorrow, although mentally I've started getting ready—I mean I'm getting scared. I love to pitch when I'm scared.

I told Fritz Peterson about how I felt about being scared, and one day before I was going to start a game he came over and whispered in my ear: "If you want to see your baby again, you'll win today."

After the game Bobbie and I were at a party with Gary Bell and his wife Nan and Steve Barber and his.

We got to talking about some of the crazy things ball players do. Nan told a story of the time she called him on the road to check on a flight she was supposed to catch. She called him at 4:30 a.m., his time, and his roommate, Woody Held, answered the phone and said, without batting an eyelash, that Gary was out playing golf. And Gary's wife shrugged and said, "Maybe he was."

My wife and I burst out laughing when Gary asked me if I'd ever been on "the roof" of the Shoreham Hotel in Washington. The Shoreham is the beaver-shooting capital of the world, and I once told Bobbie that you could win a pennant with the guys who've been on that roof. "Pennant, hell," Bell said. "You could stock a whole league."

A beaver-shooter is, at bottom, a Peeping Tom. It can be anything from peering over the top of the dugout to look up dresses to hanging from the fire escape on the 20th floor of some hotel to look into a window. I've seen guys chin themselves on transoms, drill holes in doors even shove a mirror under a door.

One of the all-time legendary beaver-shooters was a pretty good little left-handed pitcher who looked like a pretty good little bald-headed ribbon clerk. He used to carry a beaver-shooting kit with him on the road. In the kit there was a fine steel awl and several needle files.

What he would do is drill little holes into connecting doors and see what was going on. Sometimes he was lucky enough to draw a young airline stewardess, or better yet, a young airline stewardess and friend.

One of the great beaver-shooting places on the minor leagues is Tulsa, Oklahoma. While "The Star-Spangled Banner" was played you could run under the stands and look up at all kinds of beaver. And any time anyone was getting a good shot, the word would go out—"Psst! Section 27." So to the tune of "The Star-Spangled Banner" an entire baseball club of clean-cut American boys would be looking up the skirt of some female.

The roof of the Shoreham is an important beaver-shooting country because of the way the hotel is shaped—a series of L-shaped wings that make the windows particularly vulnerable from certain spots on the roof. The Yankees would go up there in squads of 15 or so, often led by Mickey Mantle himself. You needed a lot of guys to do the spotting.

Then someone would whistle from two or three wings away. "Psst! Hey! Beaver shot. Section D. Five o'clock." And there'd be a mad scramble of guys climbing over transoms, tripping over each other and trying not to fall off the roof.

One of the first big thrills I had with the Yankees was joining about half the club on the roof of the Shoreham at 2:30 in the morning. I remember saying to myself, "So this is the big leagues."

Pitched three innings, gave up five hits, one of them a tremendous home run over the left-field fence by a guy who caught me in Seattle last year. Tom Egan, Tommy Davis said he could follow the flight of the ball pretty good, but lost it in a cloud.

Mike Marshall was in the Tiger organization for a while and he says that, like the Yankees, they frown on players telling reporters the truth. A reporter asked Mike what he was being paid, and he said he didn't feel he could say, but it was less than the minimum. The reporter printed it and asked how the hell the Tigers could be paying their No. 1 reliever less than the minimum.

So Mike got called in by Jim Campbell, the general manager. Campbell wasn't angry that Mike was making less than the minimum, but that he told.

I asked Mike if he'd ever talked to Johnny Sain about contracts and he said he hadn't. Sain gives you good advice on how to get money out of a ball club.

He was with the Boston Braves in 1948, the year they won the pennant. It was Spahn and Sain and then, dear Lord, two days of rain. Warren Spahn and Sain were the staff and Sain really put it to Park Carroll, who was the general manager.

Sain had had a big argument in the spring about his contract and signed for less than he wanted. Now they were off a western trip and fighting for the pennant and Sain went to Carroll and said, "I'd like to talk about my contract."

"We'll talk about your contract next winter, when it comes up," Carroll said.

"No, I'd like to talk about it now," John said.

"What the hell," Carroll said.

"You signed a contract and we're going to stick by it. We can't renegotiate a contract like that again. Just one more time, one more season. It never listens."

"Well, you're going to renegotiate this one," John said. MARCH 16

"What the hell do you mean by that?" Carroll said.

"I'm supposed to pitch Thursday," Sain said. "But unless you pay me what I wanted in the beginning, I'm not pitching."

That meant it would be Spahn and rain and pray for a hurricane, and then maybe a flood. So Carroll tore up his contract and gave him a new one, and John won 24 games. He used to say to me, "Now, don't be afraid to climb those golden stairs. Go in there and get what you're worth."

Those golden stairs. Went to the rodeo with the family, and when they played "The Star-Spangled Banner" Mike said, as he does every time he hears it, "Dad, they're playing the baseball song again."

The only thing I think of these days when I go out to pitch is how my arm feels. I've had a lot of conversations with my arm. I ask what the hell I ever did to it. I ask why won't it do for me what it used to do in the old days. I whisper lovingly to it. Remember '64? Remember '63?

All-Kingston

SAUGERTIES It will be an all-Kingston final in the District Babe Ruth League tournament here this evening at 5 p.m.

Kingston Nationals scored two runs in the top of the seventh to break a 7-7 tie and defeat Saugerties, 9-7, to move into the championship round against the Kingston American All Stars.

Jim Milano of Kingston and Myers of Saugerties went the route in the free-swinging game, as Milano survived a 10-hitter and struck out five. Myers allowed seven hits and balanced six walks with six strikeouts.

Tom Fay of the Nationals emerged as the batting star with a single, triple and home run and three RBIs in four times at bat. Gross stroked three singles and Whitaker had a single and double for the losers. Lechner added two singles.

Kingston opened with a 1-2-3 burst, but the Sawyers, blanked in the first inning, rallied to take a 4-3 lead in the second and added two more in the third to tie the game at 6-6 at the end of three. The teams

Braves Schedule Home Opener Sunday

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON — The Kingston Braves, now with former minor league pitcher Ron Thomas, are finally home. The darling wanderers of the Mid-Hudson Valley Rookie League will play their home opener Sunday night, 8 o'clock against the Middletown Explorers at Dietz Stadium.

There is, however, one hitch. The Braves must also play the Valley Central Geminis in an afternoon contest at two o'clock. And, you guessed it, the contest is on the road, at Maybrook.

The game with the Geminis will be the 10th straight in strange territory for the Braves, who are now 6-3, 5-3 in the first round and 1-0 in the second. General Manager Fred Davis announced that the Braves have obtained Ron Thomas, formerly with the Detroit Tiger organization at Rocky Mount in the North Carolina League.

The big right-hander is no stranger to area baseball buff. Three years ago Ron was the Most Valuable Player in this league and on his team as the Braves won the title. Ron fired 24 hitsless innings during that stretch, a feat that may never be duplicated.

Largely because of that feat, Ron was signed by the Tigers in 1968, went to Florida and then was assigned to Batavia in the New York-Penn. League, where he was an all-star pitcher in this and again MVP of his team.

This season, he was sent to North Carolina and then released, although his credentials were better than they were when he was signed.

Thomas will get a Sunday pitching assignment, but it will probably be against Valley Central. Buster Narum, player-manager and former major league chucker, will get the assignment at Dietz. But, this could all change by game-time. Assistant Manager Bernie Schaeffer was quite happy with the acquisition of Thomas. "We now have an even better pitching staff than before with Ron, Buster, Charlie Moore, Ray Zappone, George Geanuleas and Tom Gallo. It's a good thing too, because Fred Davis has indicated that we have a possible eight-game schedule from this Sunday to next. One good thing is that the young pitchers will be getting some work," he said.

"It's also good to be playing home," said the assistant manager. The outfield lights have really made a difference. The infield is dark now and you can see a shadow line where the infield lights and the outfield begins. But, it is playable. The only trouble seems to be picking up the ball as it comes from the infield out," he concluded.

Dave Horton continues to swing the hot bat as he is the club's leading hitter, 13-for-26 for an even .500. Greg Rios is coming on strong and is batting .387. A good day Sunday for Greg and he could catch Horton. Skip Lyons is batting at .357, while Jerry Hawkins leads the club with nine runs batted in.

Charlie Moore is the leading pitcher with a 3-0 mark and an earned run average of 0.40. Narum is 1-2 but hasn't given up an earned run in 20 innings pitched.

Dave has invited Mayor Francis R. Koenig, former mayor Ray Garraghian and Ad Jones, Board of Directors for the Kingston Braves, to attend the home opener. The vocal group, the Kingston Sing-Outs, will also be on hand to entertain the crowd.

Lover Harrelson Has No Choice

By MILTON RICHMAN

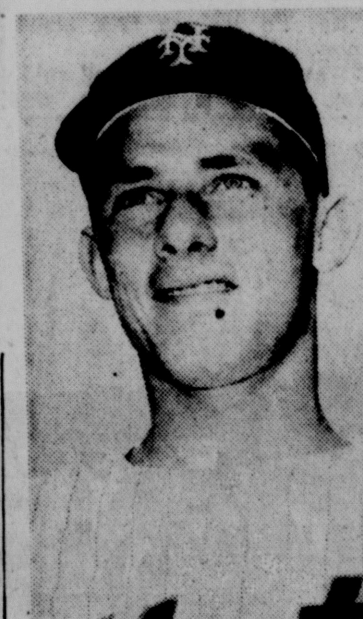

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bud Harrelson doesn't have any alternative at his size, he has to be a lover, not a fighter.

People keep coming up and telling him the same thing they keep telling Johnny Carson all the time. You know, you look much bigger on television!

Like most little guys, Harrelson has had it pretty much uphill all his life because of his size but that doesn't bother him so much.

What bothers him more are the times he feels he's being taken advantage of because of his size, and that's the way he felt at one point in Monday night's 10-3 win over the Cardinals at Shea Stadium.

BUD HARRELSON

something back out to the Card's southpaw and that was that.

"I haven't been that mad in a long time," Harrelson says. "Perhaps you can make some excuse for a left-handed throwing behind a left-handed hitter but when a left-handed throws behind a right-handed hitter he has to be trying to hit him."

Jerry Reuss says he didn't think anything like that at all. The big thing is Bud Harrelson made his point.

One of these days, Jerry Reuss is going to make his. Quietly and unobtrusively. Reuss, who doesn't know Harrelson personally and never has spoken to him before will let the Mets' 150-pound short stop know he never meant to hit him and he's sorry for what happened.

Bud Harrelson then will tell Jerry Reuss exactly what you imagine. Forget the whole thing.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—John Drew has been named to the football coaching staff at Temple University, it was announced Wednesday.

The 33-year-old Drew, a former head coach at Highland Regional High School in Blackwood, N.J., succeeds Walt Pierce as coach of Temple's junior varsity.

Contracts Signed

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tight end Gary Arthur of Miami (Ohio), defensive back Terry Stewart of Arkansas and guard John Little of Oklahoma State Wednesday signed 1970 pro football contracts with the New York Jets.

The three men were the Jets' fifth, sixth and 14th draft choices respectively.

Tepedino Optioned

NEW YORK (UPI)—Outfielder-first baseman Frank Tepedino Wednesday was optioned to Syracuse of the International League by the New York Yankees.

The Yankees recalled right-hander Steve Kline from the same club to replace Tepedino on the roster.

Homosexual Arrest Goes to Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Alvin Leon Buchanan, is cross-routine arrest of a homosexual in a Dallas restroom last year has wound up in the Supreme Court as a challenge to all state laws making "unnatural sex acts" a crime.

The explosive test case has been brought to the high court by Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin in a defense of the state's sodomy law, found unconstitutional last January by a three-judge federal court in Dallas.

The confessed homosexual, could be punished under the Texas law.

Atty. Gen. Martin, in appealing, says states should be allowed to draw a line between "the marital union of intercourse from which offspring are born" and sodomy, which, he said, "often leads to distaste, revulsion and divorce."

On the other side stand Buchanan, Strickland and their lawyer, Henry J. McClusky Jr. of Dallas, who is arguing that all adults, single or married, homosexual or heterosexual, have a constitutional right of privacy that states cannot invade.

Dallas Judge Sarah to Hughes' decision noted that "an exam-nation of the statute reveals that it operates directly on an intimate relation of husband and wife."

Besides, the judge added: "Absent some demonstrable necessity, matters of (good or bad) taste are to be protected from regulation."

The Supreme Court does not have to rule in the case. There is a possibility, in fact, that the Texas appeal was not filed within the required time.

Should the high court back away, the Texas legislature presumably would be free to write a new sodomy law aimed more directly at homosexuals and clearly protecting married couples from prosecution.

BIG SANDWICH—Jackie Gleason, "The Great One," prepares to take a bite out of a three-foot diameter sandwich at his home in England. At left is his new wife, Beverly, whom he married at Ashford, England on July 5. The sandwich came from the staff of Jackie's restaurants in Florida. Helping to hold the sandwich is National Airlines stewardess Susan Ross. (UPI CABLEPHOTO)

Israel Claims Pilots Koyed Three MIGs

By United Press International
Israel said its pilots shot down three Egyptian MIG21s in a "quick and short" dogfight over the Suez Canal today and then continued with their 571st consecutive day of attacks against Egyptian canal positions. Egypt said its planes hit two of the Israeli aircraft.

A Cairo announcement said a total of 24 Israeli and Egyptian planes were involved in the air battle in the Qantara region over the northern sector of the waterway, that two Israeli planes were hit and that all Egyptian planes returned safely.

Cairo said earlier 56 Israeli aircraft raided Egyptian positions in the canal area, an unusually heavy raid.

Today's was the first dogfight since Israel reported that the Soviet Union and Egypt had set up an array of SAM3 and SAM2 missile sites barely 15 miles from the Suez Canal and that Russians were manning the SAM3 missiles against Israel.

Israel also has charged that Russian pilots were flying in the canal area and possibly over Israeli territory but today's announcements made no mention of Russians.

Accord Driver Cited After County Mishap

ELLENVILLE
William Russell, 30, of Accord, was cited Thursday night by State Police on a charge of driving a motor vehicle at a speed too fast for conditions, following a mishap on Plank Road just west of Old Route 209 in Napanoch.

Troopers said Russell was southbound on the highway when his car went out of control on a curve and struck a concrete post. Russell was not injured, authorities said.

Two Charged With Burglary

CATSKILL
Two youths were arrested Thursday by Leeds State Police on charges of third degree burglary after they allegedly stole a minibike from a garage on High Falls Road in the Greene County community of Palenville.

Taken into custody by Trooper C. L. Gross were David Rende, 17, and William Nangle, 16, of Catskill. Arraigned before Town Justice George Carl the two were committed to the Greene County jail pending grand jury action, troopers said.

Leeds troopers also arrested 25-year-old Arthur Montague of Cairo on a charge of criminal trespass. He was accused of trespassing on property owned by George Obach of Purling.

Montague pleaded innocent before Town Justice Nicholas Peer. He was held for hearing later today.

The arrest was made by Sergeant P. D. Harrington, Troopers H. J. Arp, J. F. Fitz Maurice and R. J. Stabile.

Island Man Charged In Nixon, Spiro Threats

NEW YORK (AP) — Authorities have arrested a man, held briefly last month in connection with the bombing of Police Headquarters, and charged him with threatening the lives of President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

James E. Schroeder, 24, of Hempstead, N.Y., was arrested Thursday morning in his apartment by Secret Service agents and detectives from New York City and Nassau County. Police said they found two rifles and a dagger in the apartment.

A federal warrant charged that Schroeder, armed with a revolver and bayonet, had entered an auditorium at Adelphi University June 30, where 100 students were waiting to view an experimental film.

The warrant said Schroeder fired three blanks at the ceiling and then smashed a wall clock with the bayonet. After allegedly using profanity to denounce Nixon and Agnew and threatening their lives, he stalked out.

Schroeder told police he had attended Nassau Community College and Hofstra University and now described himself as a mechanic.

While being questioned at Secret Service headquarters, Schroeder reportedly collapsed and was briefly hospitalized. The hospital said the 6-3, 200-pound suspect was "malingering" and he was taken to Brooklyn Federal Court for arraignment.

U.S. Commissioner Max Schiffman ordered Schroeder held in $250,000 bail for a hearing July 20.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices were firm at the opening on the New York Stock Exchange today. Trading was moderate.

Minutes after the opening the UPI marketwide indicator added 0.33 per cent with 524 issues traded. There were 244 advances and 133 declines. The Dow Jones industrial average moved up less than a point.

In the mixed motors, General Motors gained 1/4 to 65 1/4. Ford slipped 1/4 to 43 1/4. Chrysler was unchanged at 18 1/4.

U.S. Steel was unchanged at 31 1/4. Bethlehem Steel picked up 1/4 to 23. Jones & Laughlin rose 1/4.

The oils eased. Mobil surrendered 3/4 to 44 1/4 and Occidental Petroleum was off 1/4 to 13 1/4. Texaco dipped 1/4 to 26 1/4. 'Dow ar' Allied Chemical moved up in their group, the former by 1/4 to 64 1/4, the latter by 1/4 to 18.

Dear Abby

Wife Is Irritating

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband must entertain his business contacts very often. There is one couple with whom we go to dinner frequently. The wife CHEWS ice like a teen-ager with bad manners. That is bad enough, but she'll "suck" the ice, and spit it back into her empty glass, and the sound of that ice against her teeth and back into that empty glass simply drives me up a wall! Is there any way I can let this woman know that this irritates me? I don't want to hurt her feelings.

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Does your husband BUY from her husband? Or does he SELL to him?

DEAR ABBY: I need your help in handling a very touchy situation. I recently visited my cousin in another state. She proudly showed me a very lovely family album which she said took her "months" to put together.

When I started to look through it, I was flabbergasted to see some pictures of our family. I hadn't seen in over 40 years! I remembered having seen them last in my mother's family album, and I recall that after a large family gathering my mother was heartick to discover that many of her precious pictures were "missing."

Now I set the "missing" pictures in my cousin's album. My cousin's mother is now deceased and so is my mother. I know these were taken from my mother's album. They rightfully are mine and I would like to have them. How can I mention this without casting ugly reflections? NAMELESS NATURALLY. DEAR NAMELESS: You can't "borrow" the pictures you want in order to have them reproduced. (Shop around for photographers who specialize in restoring and duplicating old photographs.) Then return the originals to your cousin.

DEAR ABBY: I know this doesn't rate as one of the biggest problems in the world, but if you would bring it to the attention of your readers, a lot of cab drivers would love you for it.

Many people will call a cab, and they'll leave before the cab arrives. This is discourteous and costly to the driver as it could tie him up anywhere from five to 20 minutes looking for the person who ordered a cab, but left before it got there.

only a minute to call back and cancel the cab.

CABBY: MADISON, WIS. DEAR CABBY: I'll pass the word on. But how about the person who orders a cab, is told it will be there in "10 minutes"—and after waiting 45 minutes he's so irritated he doesn't feel like spending another dime to cancel it?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "D" IN KOKOMO: A woman who constantly checks up on her husband doesn't make him more "faithful"—just more careful.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

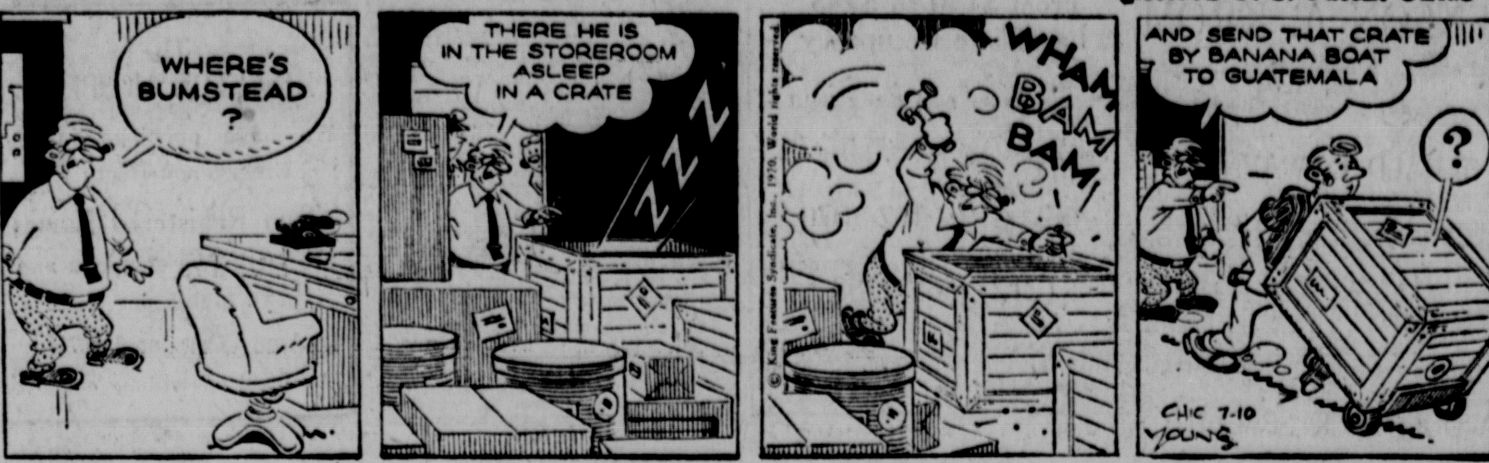

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:10 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

COOL: (Q.) I could have a heart attack three feet from this girl and she wouldn't even look at me. Well, she might look, but nothing more.

I asked her for a date a month and a half ago and she said no. I asked her again two weeks ago and she said no again. I broke two fingers and had my hand put in a cast. When I showed it to her she just smiled. She didn't seem to be the least bit sorry.

How can I get a conversation started with her and move on from there?—Unnoticed in Pittsburgh.

(A.) The girl has let you know she's not interested, but you refuse to hear. It is foolish for you to keep knocking at a closed door. Find another girl to fill your mind and time.

NOT A FARMER: (Q.) My mother and father want to move to a farm. They are talking about doing just that when my father retires in three years. I don't want to live on a farm.

My uncle has a farm. I don't mind visiting it, but I wouldn't want to live on it. I don't know what to do. Can you help me?—City Boy in Alabama

You're worrying about something that is three years away, or may never come about. That is what people who live on farms call borrowing trouble. They think about today and what should or shouldn't be done today.

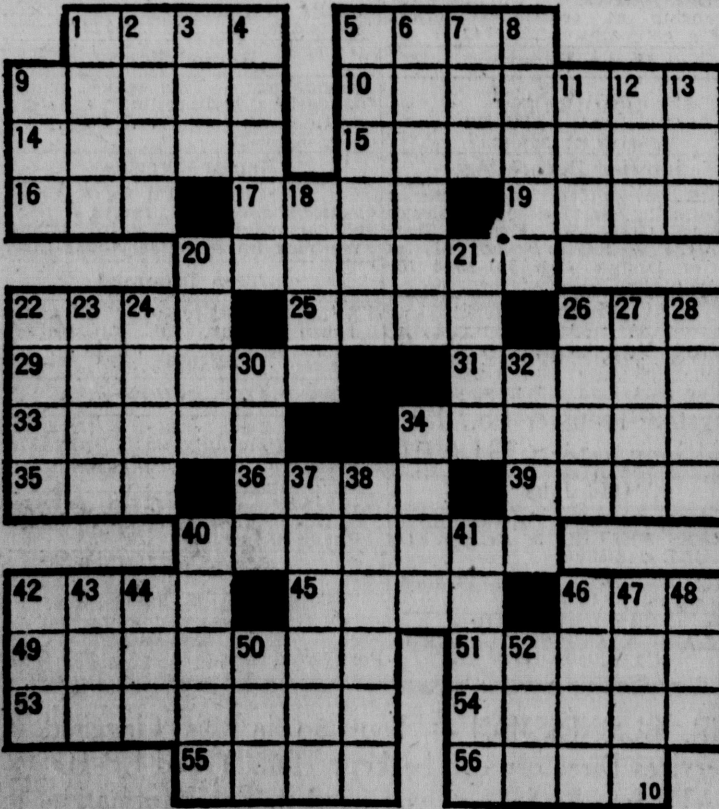

If your parents do decide to move to a farm, you may find it is entirely different from your uncle's farm.

You may love it. You may find out it is the greatest thing that ever happened to you.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

CARROLL RICHTER'S horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

You are able to work out problems with others today if you go along with the mood and feelings of those with whom you have contact. Later in the day and extending through the night you have a considerable amount of distrust of another's intentions, and rightly so.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Associates are most vital to you at this time. Be sure to make suggestions that are worthwhile. Take it easy tonight. Show you are cooperative and all works out fine. Be charming with everyone.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) As a child of Venus you want everything around you to be charming and delightful, so try to achieve this in your surroundings. Interesting situations come up. Make the right improvements.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Out with those who have a good sense of humor and relieve tensions that have been building up. Put some extra effort in important work you have to do. Show you are a perfectionist.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can gain more harmony at home during the day through the proper outlets. Being cooperative with kin brings more help than you think in the future. Be gentle.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Meet with associates and decide how to make operations more profitable and effective in the days ahead. Then get busy on correspondence. Talks with others can also produce fine results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) State your exact position with others where finances are concerned during the day and get right results. But take it easy in the evening. Listen to the advice of an expert you have trusted for some time. Be wise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A new twist at regular pleasures can now make this a most enjoyable evening. Take care of routine work. Forget anxiety later and go out for some recreation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Ideal time to do some investigating of whatever you do not understand, particularly where the most current outlets are concerned. Be affectionate with mate and increase happiness. Converse more.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Deepen your association with acquaintances at this time. It can lead to something good later on. Get new ideas that are interesting. Some time spent reading tonight could be profitable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do as much civic work as you can and help those in your community as well as yourself. Relax in the evening. Update methods you use in your work for greater success. Listen to your radio in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have fine ideas that you should discuss with those persons you want to be associated with in the future. Impress them. Make new contacts also that inspire and give impetus to your operations.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want work to do and should look up those persons who have confidence in you. Be sure to take care of personal chores. Run errands for mate, also, and be very congenial.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those who is interested in the affairs of others and will therefore gain their confidence and support, especially since your progeny has the faculty for making others feel happier and more alive. Ideal chart for whatever has to do with adornment and entertainment. Send to the right schools to achieve best results. Ethical training should be started early.

Probe Sought Of Tiger Cage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conservative Democrat who was among President Nixon's chief defenders in the latest Senate battle over Southeast Asia called today for an investigation of the reported use of tiger cages to hold political prisoners in South Vietnam.

"Shocking and abhorrent," Sen. Robert C. Byrd said of the reports which surfaced after a congressional committee's trip to Con Son prison.

150 Youths In Scuffle Near City Hall

NEW YORK (AP) — About 150 youths scuffled with police and roughed up persons in City Hall Park Thursday.

The disorder came after a group invaded the nearby Youth Services Agency to demand summer jobs. Some files were overturned.

A woman operating a hot dog stand in the area said her soft drinks were stolen during the ruckus.

Meanwhile, on the steps of City Hall, a ceremony commemorating the 194 anniversary of George Washington's reading of the Declaration of Independence, was in progress.

"I didn't even know there was a riot," said Peter Moore, the ceremony chairman.

Police arrested two of the youths, on a charge of purse-snatching, the other for disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and harassment.

According to some observers, several black and white policemen were involved in a confrontation over the handling of a Negro youth, the blacks warning the whites not to rough him up.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, following what its civil rights chief says was "our game plan all along," has taken spectacular legal action against hardcore Southern school segregation.

Suits naming Mississippi state education officials and 27 school districts in three other Southern states were filed simultaneously by the Justice Department Thursday.

Jerris Leonard, the assistant attorney general for civil rights, said suits will be filed soon to desegregate 76 more districts that still maintain separate educational facilities for blacks and whites.

The push follows a virtual absence in the past four months of federal court activity while administration officials attempted to talk Southern educators into doing away with dual systems voluntarily.

The switch to sweet talk and President Nixon's emphasis, in his March school desegregation message, on good faith negotiations may have led some Southerners to believe the heat was off. However, with classes due to open in but seven weeks, Leonard proclaimed an end to negotiations.

"This has been our game plan all along," Leonard told reporters.

He acknowledged that some Southern districts will experience difficulties in meeting a September desegregation deadline, but said administrative problems "will not be an acceptable legal argument" for delay.

Thursday's suits seek to dismantle a total of 46 dual school systems: 19 in Mississippi, 10 in South Carolina, nine in Arkansas and eight in Florida.

Still facing legal action are 48 districts in Texas, seven in Georgia, seven in Tennessee, six in Florida, five in Virginia, two in Mississippi and one in Louisiana. The Justice Department refused to name those districts before suits are filed.

In addition, 14 segregated districts remain in North Carolina, but the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense Fund has filed a statewide suit there, the department said.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, noting that administration efforts to negotiate voluntary desegregation agreements without court action had been successful in about 120 districts, said Thursday's filings and those upcoming "clean up the remnants —those few districts which could not or would not come into compliance."

The Thursday suits affect an estimated 95,000 black and 100,000 white students in 361 schools in the 46 districts. About 650 districts in the four states already have desegregated or of legal action against the hold-out Southern districts caused Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia to charge the government has set differing desegregation standards along economic and geographical lines.

Appeal Shifts to England

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers was flying to London from the Far East today to seek pledges of more active support from Britain's new government for American policies in the Middle East and Asia.

Two-day policy talks with Prime Minister Edward Heath, Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home and other high officials will range over the entire field of foreign affairs.

But the dominant topics undoubtedly will be the deepening Arab-Israeli crisis, the implications of the U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam and the Conservative government's plans to work more closely with the white supremacist regimes of South Africa and Rhodesia.

In the Middle East and the Far East, Heath's government has already provided evidence of its resolve to back the Americans more vigorously than Harold Wilson's Labor government did.

In return, the Conservatives hope they will be able to count on UMSM understanding, if not overt support, for the intentions to resume the sale of certain defensive weapons to the apartheid government of South Africa.

In the Middle East, the Conservatives have displayed less inclination to conciliate President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt than Wilson's government did. Their attitude was expressed recently by Julian Amery, an influential minister, who wrote: "The objective of western policy is not only to achieve peace between Israel and her neighbors but to achieve it under conditions which remove the threat of Soviet predominance in the Middle East."

This appears to conform exactly with President Nixon's own thinking as understood here.

On Southeast Asia, Rogers has already received official word of British plans to preserve a military presence in Singapore and Malaysia through the 1970s as part of a five-power Commonwealth force. This was conveyed by Anthony Royle, a Foreign Office minister, at the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting which Rogers attended in Manila.

Douglas-Home intends to advise Rogers of the precise limits of Britain's readiness to participate in the Commonwealth force, which has been designed partly to raise local morale during a period of American retrenchment.

A trickier situation confronts the two foreign ministers over South Africa.

The United States and Canada started the action that led the U.N. Security Council in 1963 to call for a world ban on the supply of arms to segregationist South Africa. One year later the Wilson government implemented the embargo.

Now the Conservatives want to resume weapons sales needed for the defense of the South African cape sea routes used by tankers carrying Persian Gulf oil to Europe. Douglas-Home has asserted that these sea lanes are menaced by Russia's ever-swelling submarine fleet.

Any such British move would attract embittered protests from most Asian and black African states, and the United States would find it difficult to support it. Nevertheless, the British hope to ensure, at the very least, a passive attitude on the part of Washington
